SENATE OVERRIDES HOOVER VETO

Rolph Proposes State Sales Tax To Balance Budget

BUDGET FOR BIENNIUM IS SENT SOLONS

Message Reveals Decrease of 22.29 Per Cent Over First 2 Years in Office

SUGGESTS PROGRAM Would Divert Gasoline Tax Revenues to Prevent Deficit and More Taxes

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Governor Rolph today presented the state legislature with his budget for 1933-35, totaling $258,755,163, and showing a decrease of 22.29 per cent over the budget for his first two years in office.

Features of the document were:

A seven point program for balancing the budget without levying new taxes.

A sales tax program, "in event the legislature should decide upon such a plan."

Diversion of $27,500,000 from gasoline tax revenues, to prevent a deficit and balance the budget.

Suggested state bond issue for $1,500,000 to continue program of permanent improvements for state institutions.

The budget was received with some astonishment by veteran legislators, who pointed out that it goes beyond the constitutional provisions for an "itemized statement of all proposed expenditures of the state."

"Clearly those who drafted the provisions for the executive budget did not anticipate that the chief executive would find it imperative to recommend the elimination of expenditures through the repeal of existing statutes," the governor said.

Seven Steps

The seven steps recommended by the governor for balancing the budget were as follows:

1. Reimburse the general fund for $1931-33 highway bond payments and other urgency legislation, $9,272,000. (This, he explained, would close the biennium without a deficit.)

2. Approve the 1933-35 budget, which saves $16,115,501 over the 1931-33 budget.

3. Consolidate and eliminate certain state services, etc., $4,613,975.

4. Reduced fixed charges for old aid pension, tuberculosis subsidies,

TWO WOMEN FLIERS RESCUED IN AFRICA

NAIROBI, Africa, Jan. 15.—(UP)—Miss Joan Page and Miss Audrey Sale-Barker, British women fliers, were rescued from the wild Kenya bush today by an airplane searching party and placed in a nursing home here to recover from injuries received when their plane crashed near Lake Magadi.

Miss Page, daughter of the chief justice of Burma, Sir Arthur Page, suffered a fractured leg. Miss Page is a professional pilot. Miss Sale-Barker suffered a head wound. The women were flying to England after a holiday flight to Cape Town.

The women were sighted from the air late Sunday, but it was impossible to make a landing near them. Three airplanes took up the search today, and one landed two miles from where the women's plane crashed.

THREE KILLED IN GUN BATTLE WITH FARMER

Half Dozen Others Wounded in Five Hour Siege on Indiana Farmhouse

GARY, Ind., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Mike Lantare, a farmer suddenly turned berserk, fought off police in a five-hour siege of his home that ended last midnight with Lantare and a neighbor slain, Sheriff Roy F. Holley fatally wounded and half dozen others injured.

Fighting with the cunning of madness, Lantare matched his shotgun and revolver against nearly all the implements of modern warfare as he beat back charging police officers for hours.

A rain of hundreds of bullets from high-powered rifles, machine guns and revolvers poured into the simple two-story farm home where he had barricaded himself.

Only after an armored car had carried officers to the doorway

MARTINEZ, Calif., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Mrs. Cleffie Herrod, 23-year-old bride, was expected to be free of the slaying of her husband's brother, James Herrod, 40, when she appeared before the grand jury today.

Mrs. Herrod told officers she shot Herrod after he attempted to attack her in her home at Rodeo last night. Her husband, Fred Herrod, was at work at the time.

After firing the bullet, Mrs. Herrod drove to Pinole to notify officers. After investigation, Prosecutor James F. Hoey announced he would ask the grand jury to release her.

THREE LOSE LIVES IN INDIANA BLAZE

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Three persons—a 57-year-old grandmother, one of her sons and a grandson—perished today and a second son was gravely injured when fire destroyed the interior of their home.

The grandmother, Mrs. Marie Lowe, escaped, but ran back into the building to save others and was trapped.

Besides Mrs. Lowe, her son, Henry, 24, and a grandson, Howard, 6, were killed.

Chester Lowe, 32, was critically burned.

Only one occupant of the two-story frame building, Julia, 18, a daughter of Mrs. Lowe, escaped.

Roosevelt's Farm Relief Views Given

Favors Program Embracing Only Cotton and Wheat He Tells Senator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Senate Democrats today had the endorsement of President-elect Roosevelt to a farm relief program embracing only cotton and wheat, and his permission to exempt cotton from the domestic allotment plan if they found other methods of aid more suitable.

The president-elect maintained his attitude, Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, said, that a farm relief program must if possible be enacted at the short session of congress. Smith, who will become chairman of the senate agricultural committee next session, conferred with Mr. Roosevelt in New York last night.

Smith indicated Roosevelt was willing however to allow his party in the senate its own way in seeking a solution to the problem of aiding the farmer.

Smith presented the views of his party leader to the committee. No positive action was taken. The committee preferred to wait until a full explanation of the complicated domestic allotment measure passed by the house could be placed before it. It adjourned until tomorrow after hearing Smith's report.

The South Carolinian said Roosevelt "recognized as we all do, that the excess exportable surplus of cotton would not be affected in the same way, if the plan is successful, as would wheat." He explained that 60 per cent of the cotton crop is available for export, whereas almost the entire wheat crop is for use domestically.

Smith said he personally favored a plan whereby the government would buy up the cotton surplus this year and sell it back on credit in proportionate amounts to those farmers who agreed to make drastic production cuts.

The cotton would be held until fall and then resold, presumably at a profit due to increased market prices resulting from lower production and the lack of a surplus.

Smith said he believed the transaction could be carried out under

SOCIETY FAVORITE IS SLAIN IN HOME

PALMYRA, N. J., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Fingerprints on a revolver were studied by police today in search of a clue to the death of Broadway Brown, whose body was found sprawled on the floor of his home amid the scattered toys of his two-year-old daughter.

Brown, a member of a family socially prominent here and in Philadelphia, had been struck by two bullets. One had entered his arm, which presumably was raised in a gesture of defense when he faced the killer. He wore his overcoat.

But police declined immediately to agree with Brown's mother-in-law, Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley, that it was a case of murder. They studied the revolver found on the floor of the room where Brown fell among the childish playthings.

MILLER-MIX SUIT RETRIAL IS OPENED

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Col. Zack Miller, rancher and showman from Oklahoma offered Tox Mix $10,000 a week to appear with the 101 Ranch, Miller testified in court.

Miller said Mix agreed to go with the circus, and they shook hands on the bargain, in Mix's dressing room in a Philadelphia theater, Miller testified.

The testimony was offered in the re-trial of the colonel's suit to collect $342,000 from Mix. Miller said it cost him that much when Mix failed to keep the verbal contract. In the trial almost two years ago, a jury awarded Miller $90,000.

Miller and Mix, dressed in the traditional cowboy and rancher garb, have not permitted the trial to interrupt their friendship. They chatted in the manner of old friends during recesses.

SCIENCE RUSHED TO AID OF GIRL WHO HAS SNEEZED FOR EIGHT CONSECUTIVE DAYS

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Scientific and medical advice from all sections of the country came today to the aid of 15-year-old Daisy Jost, who has sneezed with almost clock-like precision for eight days.

Hope that the strange malady was being brought under control was expressed by physicians today as the intervals between sneezes increased and Daisy was able to take food for the first time since she became ill.

While puzzled doctors and scientists studied her condition, Daisy sneezed each 20 minutes. At first the sneezes came regularly each three minutes, hour after hour. Lack of sleep and food and the incessant exertion made her condition serious, causing Dr. William E. Henske to summon aid of specialists. Dr. Henry Aalt, from the Mayo brothers clinic at Rochester, Minn., hurried to Daisy's bedside and other physicians offered their advice and services.

Gradually the sneezes became less violent. Daisy's heart action became more normal and she obtained some rest.

Mrs. Lundy Beechem of the Beechem home where Daisy and her sister, Mary, have been under state care for a year, said the illness began with a cold. After home remedies failed and the sneezing became violent, Daisy was taken to St. Joseph hospital.

In one effort to effect a cure, physicians called in Daisy's school teacher. She talked of Daisy's classwork in hope of distracting her attention from sneezing, but to no avail.

BREED DEFENDS BILL TO SLASH SCHOOL FUNDS

Dramatic Hearing is Held With Entire Senate on Hand on Monday

BULLETIN

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Sen. Arthur H. Breed's proposals to eliminate the state's guarantee of school support from the constitution was killed today in committee by a vote of 5 to 2.

Two alternative measures, one by Senator Breed and the other by Senator R. R. Ingels, Mendocino county, were reported back to the senate without recommendation by the committee.

The Breed measure proposes a 20 per cent reduction in state and county school support and the Ingels measure provides a reduction only in the county payment.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Defenders of California's present method of financing her public school system rested their case with the state legislature today.

PUGILIST DEFEATED BY THIS WRESTLER

SAN JOSE, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The age old controversy as to whether a wrestler can defeat a boxer has been settled in favor of wrestlers as far as local fans are concerned.

Although outweighed 30 pounds, Williams bested Huizar and then hauled him into court on charges of drunkenness. The boxer went to jail when unable to remit a $10 fine.

FRESNO EDITOR PASSES AWAY IN SAN MATEO

Carlos M'Clatchy Succumbs to Double Influenza and Pneumonia

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Carlos Kelly McClatchy, editor of the Fresno Bee, and general manager of the McClatchy newspapers, son of Charles K., and Ella K. McClatchy of Sacramento, died today of double influenza and pneumonia at the home of friends in San Mateo.

Death came shortly before 10:30 o'clock while physicians worked vainly to save his life by means of oxygen which kept him alive for several hours. He passed away shortly after his father had arrived at his bedside.

The influenza - pneumonia that proved fatal had a rapid outset, being of the epidemic form.

Dr. Phillip King Brown, chief of the medical staff of the Southern Pacific hospital, with a corps of physicians, was in attendance. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Carlos Kelly McClatchy was born in Sacramento, March 2, 1891, the son of Charles K. McClatchy, owner of the McClatchy newspapers, and Ella K. McClatchy, both pioneer California stock.

He attended the public schools of Sacramento and entered Santa Clara university from which he transferred to Columbia university. He received a degree of bachelor of science from Columbia in 1911.

Returning to Sacramento McClatchy began his newspaper career as a reporter on the Sacramento Bee. His rise was rapid and he soon became the capitol correspondent for the Bee, playing a prominent role in the progressive movement launched by United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson and his followers.

Later he became the Bee's Washington correspondent, obtaining background in national affairs that proved invaluable to him in the editorial work which was to follow.

When the World war threatened to involve the United States in 1916, McClatchy prepared for ser-

M'FADDEN IN EFFORT TO IMPEACH HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The House today for the second time this session refused to initiate impeachment proceedings against President Hoover.

On motion of Democratic Leader Rainey, the House voted to table an impeachment resolution offered by Rep. McFadden, Repn., Pa.

The vote was 342 for tabling and 22 opposed.

McFadden, who had introduced a similar resolution earlier in the session, only to meet with a crushing rebuff, again absed his charges today on alleged "high crimes and misdemeanors" involving the Hoover moratorium and other foreign debt negotiations.

REPENTANT RAIN gods, atoning for the previous lack of moisture they had bestowed upon Orange county this season, brought one of the most beneficial storms to this section yesterday and last night in several seasons.

In actual money, it was figured that the rainfall, which averaged 1.58 inches for the entire county during the past 24 hours, was worth $126,000 to citrus growers alone in the county.

As surface ground was fast drying out, most of the citrus ranchers in the county were making active preparations to irrigate. Figuring roughly that the cost of irrigation per acre for water is one dollar an acre inch, the 1.58 inches was worth $126,000 to the ranchers based on 80,000 acres of citrus land. One inch of rainfall is equivalent to one inch of irrigation, according to farm officials. Many other agricultural products in the county were also benefitted, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

Laguna Beach and Irvine received the most precipitation during the past 24 hours, both getting 2.40 inches. This was the most rain in a 24-hour period in the district for five years. Santiago dam was a close second with 2.39 inches and still leads for the storm and season, having received 2.52 inches for

AIMEE MAY SETTLE CASE OUT OF COURT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Settlement out of court of the $240,000 breach of contract suit brought against Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton by J. Roy Stewart may be reached soon, attorneys for both parties advised Superior Judge Marshall F. McComb today in obtaining a continuance until tomorrow of trial of the case.

Previously Willedd Andrews, attorney for Mrs. Hutton had ineffectually sought a six months' continuance of the trial on the ground that the evangelist was too ill to appear in court.

Judge McComb refused the move and indicated he would adjourn court to her sick room if necessary. It was learned that Attorney Andrews would offer to take depositions from the defendant to forestall the court's indicated action.

MURDERESS GIVES BIRTH TO DAUGHTER

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Mrs. Beatrice Snipes, convicted murderess whose death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, gave birth to a girl at the South Carolina state hospital here today.

It was because of the imminent arrival of the child that Gov. I. C. Blackwood was moved by nation-wide appeals to revoke the death penalty. Mrs. Snipes admittedly shot down an officer who tried to arrest her husband on a liquor charge.

Dr. C. F. Williams, superintendent of the state hospital, told the United Press "both mother and child are doing fine."

BOB SHULER TO BE CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Announcement Comes After Supreme Court Upholds Silencing KGEF

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The Rev. Robert P. (Bob) Shuler, "fighting pastor" of the Methodist Episcopal church, will run for governor of California at the next election, he announced late yesterday.

Shuler's announcement came on the heels of a supreme court decision which upheld action of the Federal Radio commission in ordering his radio station, KGEF, from the air.

"Ever since the November election I have been importuned by friends to seek the Republican nomination for governor as a protest against conditions that are now tragically confronting the people of California," Shuler said in a prepared statement today.

"I have given little serious thought to such a suggestion until the present governor recently

SAY WOOL PRICES WILL STAGE RALLY

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 17.—(UP)—A forecast that wool prices will stage a sharp rally to keep apace with an increasing demand was before the 47th annual midwinter meeting of the Arizona Wool Growers association here today.

The prediction was voiced by E. O. Oglesby of San Angelo, Tex., who reported a "considerable inquiry" for wool since January 1.

"If this movement develops, it gives promise prices will improve," Oglesby said. The speaker is in charge of operations for the National Wool Marketing corporation.

The convention urged reduction in state land rentals and forest grazing fees.

DOLLAR LINE TAKES OFF TWO STEAMERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Announcement by the Dollar Steamship line of the withdrawal of the liners President Hoover and President Coolidge from the San Francisco-New York run was believed today to presage the end of the struggle for intercoastal trade.

The two palatial liners, it was announced, will in the future operate between San Francisco and the Orient. They will be replaced in the intercoastal service by the liners President McKinley and President Lincoln.

The latter two vessels are not considered as elaborate as the liners now being used in intercoastal service by the Grace line and the Panama-Pacific line.

PHILIPPINE ISLAND BILL NOW IS LAW

Upper House Votes 66 to 26 to Set Aside Veto As Did House Last Week

ACTION IS APPLAUDED

Under Measure Philippines Will Be Given Independence After 10 Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The senate today overrode President Hoover's veto and enacted into law the bill to give independence to the Philippine islands after 10 years under a transitional commonwealth government.

The vote was 66 to 26.

The bill comprises conflicting claims with respect to political status, trade relations and immigration, along lines favored in committee by both Republican and Democratic members but denounced by the president as potentially disastrous to the Philippine islands and conducive to Oriental instability.

There was a burst of applause from the members' gallery when the result was announced. Many Filipinos had been sitting there day after day waiting for the realization of their independence aspirations. The senate vote was reached after a delay of three days, in which Senator Long, Democrat, Louisiana, stretched his filibuster tactics to the Philippines bill and other senators made numerous speeches for and against it.

Long surrendered the floor Monday to Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, for the latter's annual prohibition anniversary speech. After the Philippines bill was given the right of way and an agreement was reached to vote after a series of speeches limited to 30 minutes.

Passing of the bill over the president's veto in the senate followed similar action in the house last Friday, when the vote was 274 to 94.

Enacting the bill into law upset the long established administration

EXTEND INSULL'S PERMIT IN GREECE

ATHENS, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Samuel Insull's permit to stay in Greece has been extended to January, 1934, the United Press was informed today in authoritative quarters.

The home office recommended that the foreign office allow Insull to remain here at least five months longer, as he is not considered a criminal and is not engaged in trade which would cause unemployment among Greeks. The five months is expected to be increased to twelve.

Formation of a new cabinet by ex-Premier Venizelos, who intervened and ordered Insull's release when he was first arrested here, was believed to be in Insull's favor.

BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 17. (To the Editor of The Register:) California is happy today, it's raining, it's raining. That might mean just another mudhole to some places, but brother, when you haven't seen a drop of water that hasn't come through a faucet in ten months, why rain looks like a miracle from the Democrats. May it keep up as long as Huey Long. Long live the Democrats. Give California two months of rain in the year and nothing can stop us but lack of adjectives. So look out Florida. California is "all wet," and when she is "all wet" she is hard to compete with.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

Reduction Of County And School Expenses Asked

INVESTIGATION BY GRAND JURY IS SUGGESTED

Following reading of a resolution passed by the Santa Ana Realty board asking for a 20 per cent reduction, the Laguna Beach Realty board this morning went on record as favoring a 25 per cent reduction in all county governmental expenses, including schools. The motion was made by N. E. West, who has been prominent in tax reducing activities.

The motion provided that the grand jury make a thorough investigation of county governmental expenses. A letter making this request was to be sent to the grand jurors today.

The Laguna realtors also voted to send letters to State Senators Nels T. Edwards and Assemblymen Ted Craig and James Utt asking that bills be introduced reducing salaries of county officials that are fixed by law or if necessary, to begin proceedings for a constitutional amendment making such reductions possible.

West gave to the board's resolution committee a draft of a resolution callings on the county supervisors to make a study of all tax fixing bodies in thec ounty, there being about 100, and asking the supervisors to pass upon all budgets of these tax fixing bodies, acting as a clearing house for such matters.

Perry E. McCullough is chairman of the resolution committee. F. D. Pettes, Mrs. Alice Fisher and West are the other members, the latter being added for the purpose of drafting the resolution.

policy against early independence. It confirmed the desire of congress to define, once and for all, the terms of Philippines-American relations, which have been continuously controverted since the Battle of Manila Bay in 1898.

The bill provides in its final section that it does not take effect until accepted by concurrent resolution of the Philippine legislature or by a convention called for the purpose.

Split sentiment among Filipino legislators has been indicated. The Philippines legislative mission now here has supported the bill, but a caucus of legislators at Manila is reported to have passed negative judgment.

A bitter fight in the Philippines legislature, therefore, is expected. There is also a possibility that the law may undergo a court test as questions have been raised as to the constitutionality of a grant of independence.

The bill provides that the United States shall maintain a modified control of the islands for 10 years. First, however, there would be created within two years a commonwealth government for the transitionary period, but this would be under the scrutiny of an American high commission substituted for the governor general.

The bill makes subject to United States veto, laws enacted by the local government. The right of intervention and control of foreign affairs also is maintained.

Toward the end of the "probationary" period American tariffs gradually would be applied to Philippine exports, mounting to 25 per cent of the full rates during the tenth year. Immigration restrictions would apply at the start and upon complete independence would be identical with those to other foreign nations.

In his veto message last week President Hoover insisted that the United States should not project the Filipino nation at this time into "economic and social chaos." He said that independence now would defeat the ideals of liberty because it would "project more chaos into a world already sorely beset of instability."

The president warned that this country, by giving independence at this time, faced "the likelihood of having to employ military measures to maintain order, a degenerating social and economic situation, or alternatively to expend large sums from our taxpayers in supporting a constantly enfeebled government."

Supporting the president's contentions were reports to him from the secretaries of state, war, commerce and agriculture.

If the American people permit this action to stand uncontested, not only are law and order imperiled but so are our constitutional rights.

"Therefore I have definitely decided that I will carry this fight to the finish and dedicate the remainder of my life to an effort to retrieve our rights as American citizens and salvage our constitutional guarantees from the wreck-heap where we now find them.

the storm and 6.40 inches for the season.

Rains Continue

The driving and continuing rains yesterday and last night brought Santa Ana 1.34 inches of rain, making a total for the storm of 1.46 inches and 4.39 inches for the season as compared with 9.24 inches at this same time last year.

The low figure shown for San Clemente is because the rain is measured at 5 p. m. while most stations measure at 8 a. m.

Rain coming through a broken roof, damaged in the recent wind storm, yesterday sent Postmaster George Friend of Brea scurrying for repair men. For a time the water stood nearly an inch deep in the rear rooms of the building. Mail was not damaged.

Deep water flowed in the streets of Santa Ana last night as the continued rain did not allow time for run-off. Fairview street, between Broadway and Ross, was filled with water which ran over the curbings.

Many cars were stalled along highways of the county during the storm.

The strong wind, which blew from the ocean during the rain storm, showed up trouble in Edison company lines which was not revealed during the recent heavy wind storm, which blew from the opposite direction. About three blocks of residences in the south part of Santa Ana were without electric service for about 45 minutes last night, caused from lines which blew down. The telephone company reported little trouble from the rain storm.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The most beneficial storm to visit Southern California in several seasons had moved east into Nevada, southern Utah and northern Arizona today, but the weather bureau saw increasing cloudiness tomorrow with the possibility of further rainfall. Scattered showers may fall today, it was predicted.

Not only was the downpour heavy and general, but heavy snow fell in the mountains. At Mt. Wilson, 19 inches of new snow was recorded, with 25 inches now on the level.

Mt. Wilson also recorded the greatest precipitation for the storm, 5.73 inches. Pasadena had 4.23 inches for the storm, while 2.76 inches fell in Los Angeles city.

County flood control stations reported an average fall of 3.50 inches in the mountain district.

THREE KILLED IN GUN BATTLE WITH FARMER

of the home at Ross, a small nearby town, and torches had set fire to the frame building, were police able to gain entry to the improvised fort.

In the second story room, crouched before a picture of the Virgin Mary, police saw the madman. Fearing Lantare hight be feigning death to trap them, they discharged their revolvers into his body. Examination indicated he might have fallen victim to the earlier bullets.

Laura and Nancy Lantare, 18 and 20 years old, daughters of the maddened farmer watched the weird struggle that ended with the farm house in flames that illumined the powder smeared faces of the attackers. They fainted when the body of their father was carried from the burning home.

The strange battle which Lantare fought for hours against unequal odds had started in late afternoon in a seemingly minor incident.

The farmer had come upon Alvin and Lawrence Boettner, two neighbors, sawing a tree. He ordered them to go away. Louis Boettner, 70, father of the pair interceded and said they had a right to saw up the tree.

Lantare, whose daughters told police they had feared for two years he was going mad, left without a word and returned with his shotgun. He fired both barrels at close range at Louis Boettner, killing him instantly. The sons fled.

Summoned by the sons, Sheriff Holley went to Lantare's home with four deputies.

A riot call brought 100 officers from Gary, Crown Point and other nearby cities. They surrounded the house and opened fire. Lantare answered with sniper's bullets that cut down half a dozen besiegers and stopped the officers each time they attempted to attack.

Gas bombs were tossed at the house, but the madman's cunning rendered them ineffective. Lantare had broken every window in the house so that the gas fumes were quickly blown away and did not bother him.

Finally an armored bank truck was brought up from Hammond, Ind. The car was equipped with two machine guns which were loosed on the bullet pocked house. Under cover of the diversion created by the car, other deputies set fire to the house with oil soaked torches.

BREED DEFENDS BILL TO SLASH SCHOOL FUNDS

session, before the senate committee on constitutional amendments, the committee today took up the problem of choosing one of three different methods of effecting economies in education.

The hearing took place in the crowded senate chambers, with scores of young women teachers present to applaud the speakers for their side of the argument.

Seldom had a more diversified group of debaters appeared in the senate chambers. Farm leaders, livestock men, real estate brokers, county supervisors and club women appeared to champion or oppose the measures.

Assails Plan

Probably the most colorful speaker of the group was Joseph Scott, Los Angeles attorney, who held the audience spellbound while he bitterly assailed any plan to reduce state guarantees of public school support.

Sen. Arthur H. Breed, Oakland, author of two proposed constitutional amendments, one of which would abolish fixed charges for school support and the other reduce the amount from $30 to $24 per pupil, was the first speaker.

"If the teachers will not help out in this calamity that faces the taxpayers, it is hardly fair to ask other agencies to assume the whole burden of retrenchment," he said. "I dare the school lobby to submit to the people of California this question of curtailing public school costs."

Striking sharply at the "school lobby," he demanded to know if the legislators, representing the great mass of unorganized voters who have no voice except through their duly constituted legislative representatives, "are going to let these powerful organized minorities drive our state to ruin?"

Proposing to let the present state apportionment remain as it is, but reduce the counties' obligation to "match" this amount, R. R. Inels, Potter Valley, said his plan would result in an annual saving of $15,000,000.

The third plan, and the one that apparently mustered more support than the others, was by Sen. H. C. Jones, San Jose, who would cut district school taxes by one-third, for a saving of $26,000,000.

Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, declared that if the Breed plan were adopted, it would ligely result in closing a large number of elementary schools. Kersey was supported in this stand by Willard S. Givans Oakland superintendent of schools.

Other speakers included Mrs Paul Iliel, Berkeley representative of the California League of Women Voters, who insisted there was too much talk of economy and too little discussion of the relative value of education as compared to highways; Hayden Jones, Los Angeles, president of the California Real Estate association; George Sehlmeyer, master of the California State Grange; W. O. Russell, Woodland, representing the State Supervisors' association; John Currey, San Francisco, California Cattlemen's association; Rolland A. Vandegrift, director of finance, and Joseph Scott, Los Angeles.

FARM RELIEF PLAN OUTLINED BY ROOSEVELT

the regional agricultural credit corporations set up under the reconstruction finance corporation act, which he said had "almost unlimited credit and discount privileges."

"I went over that with the governor in detail," he said, "and he said the thing for the cotton people to do is to get together and decide if they prefer that plan.

"He said," Smith continued, "it would be agreeable to him for the cotton people to agree on some plan which would adopt cotton to the bill and to include their idea of what would give relief to cotton.

"He was not familiar with the details of the bill as it passed the house, but he did insist that dairy products, peanuts, hogs, etc.—in a word all but cotton and wheat—be eliminated, and that cotton be so modified as to meet what in the opinion of the cotton people was the thing to do.

Local Briefs

Ray Moore, of the Moore and Cheney company, in charge of Orange county for the Farmer's Auto Inter-Insurance exchange, left today for Los Angeles to attend the annual meeting of the exchange. Moore is representative of the exchange for Orange county and also serves as chairman of the executive committee.

C. S. Dever, 65, of 174 North Waverly street, Orange, suffered a severe cut over his left eye and numerous bruises when he was struck by a machine driven by C. G. Thayer, of 506 East Broadway, Anaheim, in Orange last evening. The accident happened at the corner of East Cahpman avenue and Cambridge. Dever apparently did not see the machine approaching, according to Thayer's report to police.

QUICK ACTION SAVES LIFE OF 12 YEAR OLD

Two Santa Ana boys narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon when a gasoline lantern they were using while playing in a cave on West Walnut street exploded, setting fire to the clothing of one of them and burning both seriously.

The youths, George Glover, 9, of 1131 West Fourth street, and Donald High, 12, of West Walnut street, are today in the Orange county hospital, where they are suffering from first and second degree burns.

Young Glover was badly burned about the face, head and shoulders, and High was burned on the face, right hand and right arm and both legs.

Presence of mind on the part of High, probably saved his life. When the lantern exploded, his clothing immediately became a mass of flames, although the clothing of the Glover boy was not burned. Young High ran from the cave to a hydrant in the yard and turned the water on. Then he dived under the stream and put the fire out himself.

The condition of both boys today was satisfactory.

TAX FUNDS OF COUNTY TO BE SEGREGATED

Funds allocated Orange county by the state as rebate on motor vehicle fuel, license and franchise taxes and deposited in one fund designated as the "auto license fund" will, in the future be deposited in separately designated funds.

The supervisors, in a letter received today from County Auditor William Lambert, were notified of the segregation. In his letter Lambert said that for some time past all funds allocated to the county under provisions of the motor vehicle fuel, motor vehicle license and motor vehicle franchise taxes have been deposited in one fund designated as the "auto license fund."

Lambert said that it is the opinion of District Attorney S. B. Kaufman that in order to meet requirements of the state governing distribution of these funds, separate accounts should be set up. He reported that on January 1, 1933, his balance revealed that $106,840.56 was in the auto license fund.

This amount, he reported, has been segregated into three funds as follows: Fuel fund, $59,372.75; franchise, $4125.36; license, $43,342.45. All disbursements from January 1, 1933, to date and those outstanding on January 1, have been charged to the fuel fund.

It has been pointed out that operating under the segregation of funds certain disbursements, authorized from one fund by law cannot be expended from others.

GASOLINE PRICES IN ONE CENT DROP

Other major oil companies today had followed the lead of two other oil companies yesterday in reducing the price of first grade and ethyl gasoline in Orange county and Southern California by one cent.

The new prices are 19 1-2 cents a gallon for ethyl and 16 1-2 cents for regular grades. Third structure gasoline was dropped one cent to 12.9 cents a gallon Saturday.

Whether this second readjustment of gasoline prices within a few days will lead to further cuts was being debated today in oil circles, according to reports.

RELIEF GROUP URGES CITY TO SOLICIT LOAN FROM R. F. C. FOR WORK ON S. A. MUNICIPAL BOWL

Another communication to the city council relative to a plan whereby the city might borrow $10,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to be used in creating more work for the unemployed, on the Municipal bowl project, was received by the city council last night.

The letter was referred to the finance committee of the council and no definite action was taken.

The letter, which was signed by J. S. Smart, W. H. Spurgeon, H. A. Gerrard and W. D. Ranney, members of the citizens unemployment relief committee, stated that the committee had been informed that extensive improvement at the Bowl could be undertaken at a low cost at the present time which would provide substantial rentals from the property.

If $10,000 were spent, it was pointed out, three-fourths of the amount would go for labor and the improvement would net the city approximately $3000 annually in rentals. The letter also stated that this amount probably could be procured from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation at 3 per cent to be paid back annually at $1000 per year.

The committee expressed itself as believing that this work at this time would put off another campaign for the raising of funds for the unemployed until next summer.

VICTIM OF ROD ACCIDENT IS STILL ALIVE

The condition of Mrs. John Kenneth Sine, 38, of Los Angeles, who was believed fatally injured when the steel rod which pierced the car in which she and her husband were riding on Orangethorpe avenue Sunday night, killing him, was unimproved today.

Making a valiant fight for her life, Mrs. Sine is in the Artesia hospital. The chief nurse at the hospital said this afternoon that her condition, although unchanged, was "extremely critical." Little hope is held for her recovery.

In the meantime Coroney Earl Abbey announced today that an inquest over the body of the husband would be held at the Seale funeral parlors at Fullerton at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Sine were returning to Los Angeles from Laguna Beach, riding in the car with Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lyman when the accident occurred. A steel rod protruding from a trailer pierced the windshield, split Sine's head open, killing him instantly and then the same rod struck his wife in the mouth, cutting out her tongue and penetrating the neck.

SLEEPER GOING TO ASSESSORS MEETING

County Assessor James Sleeper today was authorized by the board of supervisors to attend the three-day session of the Southern California Assessors' association in Los Angeles. Expenses of his trip will be charged to the county under instructions of the state board of equalization.

A letter from the state body ordering Sleeper to attend the sessions was read to the supervisors during the morning session.

The meeting will be held in the office of Ed Hopkins, Los Angeles county assessor and will be under direction of Hopkins who is president of the association. Members of the state board of equalization and Ed Kay, adviser to assessors, also will be present.

Among the more important questions to be discussed will be pending legislation affecting tax matters and a study of the report of the tax research bureau. Problems dealing with preparation of assessment roll, real and personal property valuations, motor vehicle legislation, proposed change of assessment date, exemptions and the assessment of vessels also will be taken up.

Ostrich chicks are said to grow, for the first six months of their existence, at the amazing rate of one foot a month. These birds frequently live to the age of 70.

FIRM REPORTS BIG INCREASE IN BUSINESS

Officers to serve for the ensuing year were elected and an annual report was made at the annual meeting of the Orange County Mutual Insurance exchange meeting held yesterday in the Knights of Pythias building in Santa Ana.

The annual report, given by W. Dean Johnston, secretary-manager of the organization, revealed that an increase of $304,046.58 over 1931 was made in written insurance during 1932. The company now has a total of $19,234,434.64 insurance in effect, of which $7,050,786.46 was written last year.

Johnston reported that in five years the exchange has grown from the fifth ranking company in the state to the second in volume of business and assets. A total of $5,000,000 in volume and $75,000 in cash assets was added during the five years.

The board of directors elected consists of W. H. Flippen, John A. Murdy jr., J. Garfield Allen, Cood Adams, J. A. Smiley, W. B. Hellis and H. H. Hale. Smiley was named president, Adams vice president and Harry Hanson treasurer. Johnston was renamed secretary-manager. Murdy replaced H. H. Voght and Adams replaced F. C. Rowland on the board. Clarice Mitchell was named assistant secretary.

The gathering was the thirty-fourth annual meeting.

Santa Anans Plan To Hear Famous Vienna Choir Boys

Many Santa Ana music lovers expect to attend the concert of the Vienna Choir boys scheduled for tonight in Bridges auditorium, Pomona college, one of the events of the musical season in Claremont.

Local holders of season tickets include Dr. Murray Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin, Miss Mabel McFadden, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Wellington, Ollimae Enlow Matthews, the Charles G. Nailes, D. K. Hammond and various others. Most of these were planning to attend tonight's concert, and forming another party of music teachers from the city schools will be Frances Hunt Beeson, music supervisor, Miss Edith Cornell, Mrs. Marvin Bryte, Miss Esther Jean Davis, Miss Myrtle Martin and Miss Dorothy Decker.

Early plans of Alan A. Revill to attend were canceled by his illness from influenza.

It has been found that the average woman is most comfortable working at a bench or table 37 inches high.

CHECKUP ON LEGAL AD BILLS IS DEMANDED

W. C. Jerome, recently elected supervisor from the first district, today informed the board of supervisors that in the future he would refuse to approve warrants for printing of legal notices unless they are first approved by the county purchasing agent. He said that the purchasing agent has discontinued checking such notices. Other members of the board indicated that they did not know the purchasing department had ceased checking such items.

According to Jerome the customary procedure for handling warrants for publication of legal notices is that the warrant be approved by the department head who ordered the notice and by the purchasing agent who verifies the number of times published and that the charge is correct.

County Purchasing Agent F. W. Slabaugh said that his office had discontinued checking the legal notices because such notices were ordered by the heads of departments and data regarding the number of times the notice was ordered printed and other necessary information was not supplied his office. He said that publication of legal notices has not been a matter for the purchasing department to handle and as a matter of efficiency, the checking of such notices had been left to the department heads ordering them.

LOCATION FOR MILITARY BALL IS SELECTED

Displaying a brand of enthusiasm that bodes well for the success of the Fifth Annual Military Ball under the auspices of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World war, the citizens committee last night met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, 1320 Broadway, for the first of a series of weekly meetings to formulate plans for this year's affair.

"For years past the populace of Orange county has looked forward to February 22 with pleasant anticipations as the Military Ball has been accorded the spotlight over the patriotic holiday, which seems quite natural when it is remembered that the D. A. V. organization is composed of men whose patriotism has been proven in the service of their country and who day by day are reminded of such service through the disabilities incurred during the days of 1917-1918," said Commander Earl B. Hawks, of the chapter.

In order to accommodate the increasing patrons of this outstanding social event, much deliberation was accorded the selection of the ballroom most suitable for this event at the meeting last night. A floor of sufficient surface to insure comfort to all the participants in a location convenient to the greatest number were the requisites that made the Valencia ballroom an unanimous choice. This popular ballroom is situated midway between Anaheim and Santa Ana. Its use is being donated by the Balboa Amusement company, Harry Tudor, manager.

Commander Hawks is chairman of a large and representative citizens committee whose members yearly assist the chapter and auxiliary members in achieving success in plans for the Military ball. Many Military and Naval officers will be present it is expected, and a short entertainment, and special music will be features of this year's outstanding social event. Committee appointments will be issued at an early date and plans completed at the earliest possible moment, according to Hawks.

A COLD PASSES THRU 3 STAGES!

It is Twice as Easily Stopped in the First as in the Second or Third Stages!

A cold passes through three stages—the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. Once it gets beyond the Dry Stage it is far more difficult to relieve. Therefore, treat a cold promptly.

The best thing you can take is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, because it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels. Kills the germs and fever in the system. Relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

This is the relief you want — complete, thorough and decisive! Trust to nothing less.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful. May be safely taken by young and old and whether you stay indoors or go out. There is absolutely no penalty attached to its use. For more than 40 years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine now comes in two sizes—30c and 50c. As a measure of preparedness, get yourself a package today. Accept no substitute on any pretext.

NOTE: During Epidemics a tablet or two of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine every morning and night will do much to keep your system immune.—Adv.

ECONOMIC STUDY TO BE REVIEWED

"Towards Technocracy," by Prof. Graham A. Laing of the California Institute of Technology, will be reviewed by Mary Burke King over KREG during the book review period tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, it was announced today by studio officials.

"In the book, Professor Laing presents an outline of the development of the price system and of each of the several different proposals made by Swope, Beard, Chase and others for basic readjustment of America's economic structure," the reviewer said.

"The book offers the layman an opportunity for reorienting himself amidst the new material on the economic breakdown and planning which has been pouring from the presses during the past few months."

Water pipes, recently found in use in England, are said to be more than 500 years old.

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS NOW GREATER THAN BEFORE WAR

The index of the volume of exports of American farm products in November was 120 per cent of pre-war, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Cotton exports continued to bolster the exports index, since if this commodity is omitted the index of exports would be only 85 per cent of pre-war.

The index of all farm products exported in November 1931 was 137 per cent of pre-war, and with cotton omitted the index was 114 per cent of pre-war. A smaller volume of nearly all agricultural products was exported in November 1932 than in the preceding month when the index of exports was 126 per cent of pre-war.

Fruit exports in November were in volume 423 per cent of pre-war, cotton 147 per cent, and unmanufactured tobacco 144 per cent of pre-war. All other commodities were exported in smaller volume than pre-war, viz: Grains and products, 73 per cent; animal products; 63 per cent; dairy products and eggs, 68 per cent; wheat and flour, 67 per cent; hams and bacon, 27 per cent; and lard, 91 per cent.

TRANSFER OF FRUIT PATROL IS PROTESTED

Opposition to the suggested transfer of control of the Orange county fruit patrol to the sheriff's office from the district attorney's office was voiced today in two communications received by the board of supervisors.

The first protest read by County Clerk J. M. Backs was that of the Midway City Chamber of Commerce and signed by B. L. Kirkham, secretary. This letter declared that under the present method of operation the patrol had proved its efficiency and ranchers and business men in the Midway City area would be opposed to any change in direction of the unit.

The second protest was a letter from the City of Newport Beach and signed by Chief of Police R. R. Hodgkinson. In his letter Hodginson stated that, in his opinion, any consolidation of the fruit patrol with the sheriff's office at this time would be a mistake.

Hodgkinson said that he believes that the present sheriff's office is operating under a serious handicap in regard to limited personnel, however he would hate to see it increased at the expense of the fruit patrol.

No action on the letters was taken by the supervisors on the matter.

The Farm Bureau recently adopted a policy asking that the patrol be included in the county government act but taken from under direction of the district attorney and turned over to the sheriff.

329,109 BOXES FRUIT SHIPPED BY ASSOCIATION

Member-growers of the Fullerton Mutual Orange association received $1.24 a packed box, per average, on the largest volume of oranges marketed in the 20 years of the organization, according to reports of Colin Baker, secretary-manager, at the annual meeting this morning at the packing house.

This price, on 309,368 boxes of valencias and 19,741 boxes of navels, during the 1932 season, resulted in actual income of 79 cents a box on valencias and 89 cents a field box on navels for the season.

The fruit was from 1500 acres. In his report of the past year's activity Baker said, in part:

"The story of the 1932 valencia season can be told in a very few words. With consumers' buying power known to be greatly reduced, the citrus industry attempted to market as large a volume as in 1931, and the average net returns were little or nothing.

"Costs were greatly reduced, and although, in our own case, which is probably typical, the entire crop was sold for less than 80 per cent of the price received in 1931, average per loose box, F. O. B. California, and net returns were over 90 per cent of those paid the preceding year. This leads to the conclusion that further cost reductions will be minor, except for freight and ice charges, and that we must look to regulation of shipments through control of surpluses to put the business on a paying basis in normal production years. Sooner or later a larger majority of growers must look at this as a common problem and cooperate in solving it," he concluded in urging a prorate of all shipments.

Besides a report of Baker, directors were to be elected at the session. The present board of directors comprises J. H. Beatty, president; W. B. Parrett, vice president, H. J. Burdorf, L. L. Bruns, L. J. Kelly, Theodore Elmers and W. R. Ward.

CLUB ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED

Kiwanis anniversary week will be observed by the Santa Ana Kiwanis club at the regular meeting to be held tomorrow noon in Ketner's cafe, it was announced today by Secretary A. F. Crowell.

A program for the day has been arranged by Clyde Rowland. The chairman of the day is Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, who will give an outline of the history of the Kiwanis club.

Dr. Harry G. Huffman, president, will call on committee chairmen for an outline of the work planned by the groups for the coming year. Dr. Huffman just returned from the January president's conference which was held at San Luis Obispo last Saturday.

ARREST OF GOAT THIEVES EXPECTED

Belief that the thieves who stole 45 goats belonging to Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Shirley, living near Cypress, were aware of the fact the Shirleys made their living selling glands to Los Angeles physicians, was expressed by police authorities today. If this theory is correct and the thieves attempt to sell glands from the stolen goats, their arrest is certain, it was stated.

Mr. Shirley is confined to the Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles, where he is being treated for blindness.

Selling of glands was the sole support of the aged couple. The goats were valued at approximately $562.

TALBERT

TALBERT, Jan. 17.—Earl Gunn, local man, who sustained severe injuries when struck by an automobile as he was crossing a street in Huntington Beach is reported as getting along satisfactorily. One leg was broken in two places and one arm was seriously injured.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sauer entertained with a dinner in their home, with those present including their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sauers, and son, David, of Santa Ana; the Rev. and Mrs. John J. Woodson, of Midway City; Walter Langford, Cleon Sauers and Mr. and Mrs. Sauers.

COUNTY LIONS TALK PLAN TO SPLIT DISTRICT

Fifty members of the Orange County Lions Club Council met in Ketner's cafe here last night to discuss problems in connection with Lions club activities.

E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist, past president of the council, presided over the meeting in the absence of President Ivan Swanger of Orange, who is ill.

Entertainment was provided by a girl's chorus of 12 voices from the Southern California Bell Telephone company. William M. Wells, telephone company official, provided the entertainment, which was presented following the dinner.

The main topic for discussion at the meeting was a movement to divide the duties of the district governor of Lions clubs in California, Nevada and Hawaii. The council approved plans to have three or four district governors in charge of the territory, which, with its 165 clubs, is considered too large for one man to have under his control.

The question will be presented at the annual mid-winter state meeting of Lions clubs to be held at Fresno next Saturday. A motion was adopted authorizing the council to send President Ivan Swanger to the conference.

The loneliest policeman in the world is the Royal Canadian Mounted constable who is posted 1000 miles north of Hudson Bay and only 700 miles from the North Pole.

GRAVEL WALK FINALLY PUT IN FOR CHILDREN

Members of the city council and DeWitt Dudley, city engineer, yesterday afternoon inspected the temporary sidewalk placed 600 feet south of the Julia Lathrop Junior High school on South Main street.

"It's a poor excuse for a sidewalk," said Councilman E. G. Warner. Other members of the body agreed.

Nothing was said about the sidewalk last night at the regular meeting of the council.

The walk is made of gravel and is intended to be sufficient to allow passage by school children during rainy weather such as yesterday. Agreement was made by the owners more than a year ago to lay a concrete sidewalk along the 600 feet, but due to the depression the owners finally made an agreement with the city to put in a temporary walk.

The subject has been given considerable argument in the council for the past year.

Council Notes

Alfred Schultz, of 702 East Second street, last night was granted permission to conduct an auto repair shop at his home. The application was received a week ago, at which time it was referred to the city planning commission. The planning commission gave its approval last night and the council acted favorably.

Georgia M. Hutton, of 1018 West Sixth street, last night filed an application with the city for permission to conduct a beauty parlor at her home. The matter was referred to the city planning commission.

Several business houses in the 1500 and 1600 block on South Main street last night petitioned the city council to open the alley in these blocks between Main and Sycamore streets, declaring the property had been deeded to the city for that purpose. The matter was referred to the street commission for action.

Betty Stafford, high school student, who was one of several visitors at the meeting of the council last night, made a short talk at which time she said she found no criticism of the manner in which the city business was transacted.

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

A RESOURCE for Opportunity
A REFUGE in Distress

MONEY IN BANK often spells the difference between business success or failure; between personal distress or personal reassurance.

The way most people who have money in this Bank got it there was by putting it in a little at a time. The margin between spending everything you earn, and spending a little less than you earn, can be a narrow one, and yet by putting that margin in bank regularly, you will accumulate a substantial sum in a time which when looking back seems very short. Compound interest at 3½% helps greatly.

Try this plan...a small, regular margin regularly deposited. It will make but little difference in your spendings and a very great difference in your reserve...for emergency or for opportunity.

CALL FOR BIDS ON WATER TANK

The city of Santa Ana is advertising for bids for a 45,000 gallon water tank, to be used in connection with the city's new water well, on Olive street.

The new tank is to be used as a surface tank and will cost in the neighborhood of $800, it is thought. It is part of the equipment needed for the opening of the new well.

PROTEST MADE ON MUTILATION OF PALM TREES

C. E. Wagner, of 1524 North Broadway, appeared before the city council last night to register a complaint about the cutting of palm trees in front of his home.

He did not know who cut them, or why they were cut, but demanded an investigation.

Apparently Wagner was under the impression that the trees had been cut by some department of the city government, but he was not able to learn this at the meeting. The matter was referred for investigation to the forestry board and the street commission.

Wagner stated it was the second time his trees had been cut and that the last time, one tree was left "one sided." "I'm getting sick and tired of it and I'll not put up with it any more," he told the council.

A report on the investigation is expected at the next meeting of the council.

Legislative Sidelights

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 17.—(UP)—It's the same old legislature, doing the same old things in the same old way. A few weeks ago there was a lot of publicity on the fact that only unemployed men who were heads of families would be employed as attaches. And how did it work out? Among the clerks hired were wives and sons of legislators, and persons who already had jobs, but took leaves of absence to get in on the legislative "gravy."

The "fourth estate" is well represented in the legislature. Newspapermen who are members of the senate are Charles H. Duel, Chico; Will R. Sharkey, Martine; Herbert W. Slater, Santa Rosa, and Roy Fellom, San Francisco. In the assembly are William F. Knowland, Oakland; Jesse M. Mayo, Angels Camp; Ford A. Chatters, Lindsay; Frank G. Martin, Altadena; Austin L. Tournous, Los Angeles; Frederick M. Roberts, Los Angeles, and George B. Bowers, San Diego. And watching over them all is John B. Long, manager of the California Newspaper Publishers Association.

It was tough on lobbyists when new electric coolers for drinking water replaced the old ice coolers which were filled with cracked ice. It removed the ice supply for cloakroom highballs.

After Senator Deuel had given a masterful definition of the word "lackadaisical," he was unmercifully "kidded" about it by his seat-mate, Senator W. P. Rich of Marysville. "Two days ago when I asked Senator Deuel the meaning of that word," said Rich, "he said 'I'm not sure, but I think it's the name of one of our stenographers."

Every day the assembly gravely votes to "suspend rule 71." This is the one which forbids smoking in the assembly chamber. Speaker Walter J. Little appointed Frank Lee Crist of Palo Alto to move for suspension of the rule daily, so the motion is credited to Crist whether he is present to make it or not.

When California's 22 presidential electors came to the capitol to cast their votes, the first two rows of seats in the assembly were reserved for them. Speaker Little solemnly told the legislators to "be sure and lock your desks. They'll be occupied by Democrats this afternoon.

SAY RUMOR OF CITY PAY CUTS IS GROUNDLESS

Rumors heard that employes of the City of Santa Ana would again be forced to take a cut in salaries, or that the operating expenses of all city departments would have to be cut down in some manner, are just rumors as far as the city council knows.

"The best answer to that rumor," said J. L. McBride, city council member, "is the fact that the city budget was made out last June and that so far all departments are still operating within that budget," he said.

The fact that the assessed valuation of the city will be lowered this year and therefore income to the city will not be as great, will have no immediate effect on city departments, as it can not affect the payrolls before next December, according to Lloyd Banks, city auditor.

ASK BAN ON INTERFERENCE WITH RADIOS

A proposed city ordinance prohibiting interference with the reception of radio broadcast signals in Santa Ana, was presented to the board last night, by O. A. Jacobs, attorney, who said that he was representing only himself and Judge James L. Allen, in asking the city to pass the ordinance.

The proposed ordinance was turned over to City Attorney Clyde Downing for investigation, who will report back at the next meeting of the board.

Sections of the ordinance propose to make it unlawful for any person to operate or cause to be operated any device appliance, equipment or apparatus which creates or causes high frequency oscillations which interfere with the reception of radio broadcasting signals.

The provisions of the ordinance do not, however, apply to any broadcasting stations, commercial or amateur.

Jacobs told the council that the ordinance was aimed at certain physicians' offices in the city, equipment in which interferes with radio reception within a radius of many blocks of the place.

Scoutmasters To Meet Here Tonight

Scoutmasters of Orange county will gather for a "pow-wow" at the Santa Ana Scout headquarters on North Sycamore street at 7:30 o'clock tonight, it was announced by Scout Executive Harrison E. White.

The meeting is held primarily to aid new scoutmasters in their training and program work.

Next Tuesday night the Santa Ana Scout council, headed by Elmer Steffensen, will meet.

BONDING ORDINANCE IN FINAL READING

An ordinance repealing section No. 6 of ordinance No. 817, which regulates the operating of plasterers and lathers in Santa Ana was given final passage by the council last night.

The new section merely repeals that passage in the old ordinance which demands a bond of $1000 be placed by each plasterer with the city clerk.

The new ordinance also allows plasterers and lathers to pay their city licenses of $20 each, quarterly instead of annually.

The later's bond for $500 annually, also was repealed.

First reading of the ordinance was given a week ago after delegations from both organizations appeared before the council and demanded such a change be made.

S.A. MERCHANTS FEEL EFFECTS OF MOVEMENT

A definite and favorable reaction to the "Buy American" movement which has swept the nation and which has been strongly advocated in Santa Ana and Orange county by various organizations, has been felt already by merchants in Santa Ana, according to Manager A. Cavalli of the Santa Ana Merchants association, who conducted a survey to determine how popular the idea has become.

One well known clothing merchant, Cavalli said, has sold merchandise to local men who have demanded that the articles they purchased were made in America.

Some specialty shops are ready to discontinue any foreign merchandise and have gone on record as saying that just as soon as their present stocks were sold they would not re-order any merchandise made in France, Great Britain or Italy, he declared.

"Why is it not possible," Manager Cavalli said, "for Santa Ana citizens to patronize local stores and not go out of town to buy? How can local manufacturers continue in business if men and women in Santa Ana insist on patronizing out of town manufacturers and stores? In a survey just completed it was found that the attitude of the shopping public has been expressed many times in the questions, 'Is this article American?' 'Is it made in America?'"

CITY RESERVOIR SPRINGS LEAK: ORDER REPAIRS

A resolution was passed by the city council last night declaring that an emergency exists, and thereby giving the city auditor permission to purchase materials and work to be done at the city reservoir on Bristol street.

Materials and labor will cost approximately $2000.

According to Lloyd Banks, city auditor, a leak sprung in the reservoir which needed immediate attention. Contract for the work has already been let to the Case Construction company in Los Angeles. The leak will be repaired with gunite, according to the plans.

A resolution is needed to proceed with such work provided the cost is over $500.

Install Device To Clean Spark Plugs

A revolutionary new machine which will clean a spark plug in four or five seconds has been added to the modern equipment of the Orange County Ignition Works here.

"There has long been a need for an efficient spark plug cleaning machine because dirty or badly worn spark plugs not only reduce car performance but cause a loss of one out of 10 gallons of gasoline," said Earl Mathews, manager.

"In installing the device we feel that we have made another distinct contribution in the interest of an important service for our customers," he said.

"NOT CONSTIPATED FOR SEVEN WEEKS"

Writes Mrs. Johnson After Using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in this unsolicited letter:

"Your ALL-BRAN surely relieves constipation. I am so glad over the good it has done me that I feel I must write and tell you of it.

"For lunch I take a banana, a large one. Six tablespoons of ALL-BRAN in a sauce dish, and dip banana at each bite until all is consumed. I haven't been constipated now for seven weeks."—Mrs. Louise Johnson, 1433 Forest Street, Denver, Colorado.

Constipation often causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. This condition is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further promote regular habits. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

1933 WORLD'S FAIR TO OPEN ON SCHEDULE

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—When Chicago's 1933 World's Fair—A Century of Progress—opens on June 1, every feature contemplated in the program announced two years ago will be ready.

Every building will be completed as scheduled.

Every major item of every exhibit will be in place.

This New Year message was issued by exposition officials following a review of work accomplished during 1932 and a forward view of work still remaining to be done.

Millions Spent

Approximately $6,000,000 has already been spent on the expositions construction program—$5,534,702.04 up to Dec. 1, the last accounting period, to be exact.

Exhibit space in exposition buildings and special exhibit buildings costing a total of $4,755,324.78 are under contract. More than 220 of the largest industrial organizations and groups of organizations will be exhibitors.

Contracts for the entertainment and amusement of visitors representing an investment of an additional $4,300,000 have been signed.

The federal government has appropriated $1,000,000 for its building and exhibit. Forty-four states of the union have taken official action in preparation for exhibiting. Sixteen foreign nations have officially accepted President Hoover's invitation and in fourteen other nations plans for participation are being actively pushed by official and semi-official groups.

Facilities For a Large City

Last year's construction program was an epic in steel and concrete and the most extensive annual building program of any international exposition in history.

A year ago only three exposition buildings were standing—the Administration building, old Fort Dearborn and the Travel and Transport building. The Hall of Science and a group of three buildings—Social Science hall, Communications building and Electrical building—were being built on Northerly island.

During 1932 every remaining important construction project was begun and many partly completed. An underground city of conduits and sewers was built—ten miles of water mains, ten miles of sanitary sewers, five miles of storm sewers, ten miles of conduits and utility cables—facilities for a city of 1,000,000 souls.

Work was started on a water pumping station, three sewage pumping stations and a central electrical sub-station to accommodate a population of exposition visitors approximating the population of Detroit or St. Louis.

On Sound Financial Basis

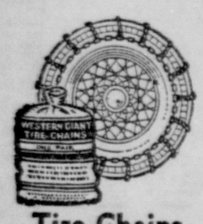

The fair, solvent, had an undisbursed balance—cash and United States treasury certificates—of $1,400,000.

There is every reason to feel, said exposition officials, that the remainder of the program so successfully carried on in 1932 will be completed and that June 1, 1933, will see the opening of A Century of Progress complete from the largest building and most impressive exhibit to the tiniest convenience and detail of service.

BROADCAST OF 'CHANDU' WILL START TONIGHT

Tonight, at 6:45, the first episode of "Chandu, the Magician" will be heard on KREG, to be broadcast thereafter in succeeding episodes twice daily at 12 noon and at 6:45 p. m. except Sunday and Monday. The famous, radio thriller will start with the first sequence.

"Chandu, the Magician," offers an illustration of striking improvement in the writing of radio serials. "In this gripping, mystery play, each episode presents a complete incident while carrying the requirements of a major plot," it was said by Shipkey & Pearson, sponsors of the feature and distributors of Rio Grande Gasoline for Orange county. "Radio experience of the past has provided that those who missed the opening and those who missed the subsequent episodes dropped out because they feared they wouldn't know what it was all about. It requires an adroit handling of the daily synopsis and consummate skill, in the building of each episode to hold serial interest, while at the same time presenting a complete dramatic incident to win new hearers," they said.

"Chandu," written by Harry A. Earnshaw, Vera M. Oldham and R. R. Morgan, should most certainly give listeners a thrill, for this new radio continuity provides spooky, eerie radio fare with a dash of romance thrown in for the ladies, some good bang-up adventure for the men, woven into an Oriental story that unfolds from day to day, it was said by KREG officials. To give realism to the episodes, more than two thousand sound effects are used in the course of the mystery thriller of the air.

"HOPELESS CASE" QUEST NEARS END

Dr. James Workman's radio quest for the "most hopeless case," regardless of the ailment is achieving results. Several cases where patients have been pronounced "incurable" have been reported. The most interesting of these cases will be given free chiropractic treatment by Dr. Workman in an effort to prove that no ailment is "incurable" to chiropractic.

The most interesting case will be selected for treatment by an unprejudiced committee. The patient chosen will be given chiropractic treatment, including X-ray service without charge or obligation.

Tonight Dr. Workman, on his "Keep Smiling" program will lecture on "What Can Chiropractic Do For Me?" This lecture will start at 5:45 p. m.

Foster Sisters On Air Tonight

The Foster Sisters, Mary, Madge and Frankie, three Santa Ana girls who are making names for themselves as radio entertainers over KREG will be heard again tonight at 8 o'clock in a delightful combination of vocal and instrumental harmony. The trio is accompanied by Curtis Garrett at the piano.

One of the features of their presentations and the greatest factor contributing to the success of their programs is the fact that the arrangement of all numbers presented over the radio is their own. This gives the added unique touch to their presentations so necessary to a successful program.

Three years in the interior of Tahiti studying principles of native music and rhythm went into Knudsen's unusual composition and arrangement.

RUTH REFUSES $15,000 PAY SLASH

Johnny Hines Again Heads Delhi Bout Card

HOOKS and SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

This operative, named shirtless secretary of the committee to discover what the dickens happened to that Pitt football team, has found the answer. It was all Knute Rockne's fault.

You may remember the one that Rock pulled on the boys in 1930. When the team stopped off at Tucson to limber up, Rock put Dan Hanley's sweater on Fullback Bucky O'Connor. Seeing the number, the scribes were fooled into believing that Hanley was going to play against the Trojans.

It worked just dandy. The Trojans were surprised when Bucky O'Connor took the field, and while they were recovering from their amazement, Bucky was hippety-hopping down the field for a touchdown.

Repeat in '32

This hoax of Rock's seems to have developed into a tradition. The Notre Dame team of 1932 improved upon it, however. Phony numbers were put on all the players, much to the discomfiture of the photographers.

Nobody knew anybody. Backfield Coach Schwartz couldn't even distinguish, upon being questioned by the shutter-guys, between All-America Tackle Joe Kurth and the other tackle, Ed Krause. The unfortunate gentlemen of the lens were handed such monickers as Jones, Hemingway, Throckmorton and Zilch.

It was all screamingly funny, of course. Maybe it was even too funny. The lads may have been still laughing about it when they started against the Trojans, and while the buttons were popping off the Polish-Irish-Lithuanian vests, the California boys were busy tallying.

PITT ADDS NEW TOUCH

The Panthers, upon arriving in Tucson, were asked to line up in team formation for a picture that was to be used all up and down the Pacific coast. This they did, but how!

Nearly every player was wearing a wrong number. And all except Left End Dailey took the wrong positions in the line-up. Quarterback Bob Hogan was over the ball at center, a jovial grin on his Irish pan. He looked just too cute. Perhaps he was feeling cute, too, and that's why he called for a forward pass into the end zone on first down as soon as Pitt reached the Troy 26-yard line.

At right end was Warren (All-America) Heller, who did not look so very All-American in the Rose Bowl. Mike Sebastian, whose snaky run against Notre Dame produced the first touchdown against the Irish lest season, was at left guard. Next to him in the line was Joe Skladany, the only player Pitt put into the Rose Bowl who looked the part of the All-America choice that he was.

STILL LAUGHING?

Linemen identified in the backfield were Guard Tarcisio Onder, a right half, and Center Joe Tormey at left half. The other two probably could be identified by research in a Pitt program, but they might have been left at home for all the good they did in the Rose Bowl, so why bother?

When that first forward pass went whistling past Mike Sebastian for a Trojan touchdown, probably Mike was laughing to himself and wondering if the Pitt prank at Tucson would be chronicled in the next revised edition of Joe Miller's Joke Book.

Before the rest of the boys were able to control their laughter long enough to remember their correct positions, the ball game was in the bag for El Trojan.

It was all very uproarious. It almost cost a couple of cameramen their jobs, but it was funny just the same. Everybody was completely taken in!

OLYMPIC GAMES BOXER OPPOSES FREDDIE YOUNG

Johnny Hines hurt his shoulder this afternoon and will not appear on tonight's Delhi card, it was announced late today. His place in the main event probably will be taken by Sailor Larry Prahl.

Fighting his third successive main event here, Johnny Hines of Redondo Beach, America's premier amateur featherweight, goes to the post at the Orange County Athletic club tonight against Freddie Young of Santa Monica, a hard-hitting 130-pounder who is conceded almost an even chance of outpointing Hines. Young has won 52 bouts in a row.

The Delhi card will be held, rain or shine, according to Promoter S. A. Sampson and Matchmaker Kid Mexico.

Hines, United States representative in the Olympic Games featherweight division, is tuning up for a career in professional ranks and this may be his last start locally. Two weeks ago he made a punching bag of Joe Disck, and last Tuesday night was an easy winner over Carlos Rolden. In both matches, Hines demonstrated such speed and boxing ability that some observers were of the opinion the Olympic hero was working "under wraps," or just hard enough to win.

Matchmaker Mexico and others who have investigated Young claim the Santa Monican is liable to go further in the pro division than Hines although right now he may lack some of Johnny's cleverness. Young comes to Delhi touted as a heavy puncher of the "Wild Man" Macias type, an exceptionally aggressive youngster who is always moving forward, win, lose or draw.

Young ha shad 52 amateur fights and has never lost a decision. His last two victories, at Long Beach, were over Joe Disck and Larry Prahl.

Billy Wana of Westminster and Jack Lujan of Whittier, lightweights, meet in the semi-windup. Wana, undefeated in several starts, may have his hands full against this protege of Bert Colima.

Baby Sal Solis, Delhi, and Larry Prahl, San Pedro sailor, collide in a rematch atop the list of preliminaries. Prahl got the decision last time although many fans thought Solis beat him.

Other bouts:

Chuy Saloranzo vs. Raoul Solis, 126 pounds; Carlo Carlson vs. Paul Brown, 125 pounds; Doyle Richards vs. Benny Gomez, 168 pounds; Andy Lujan vs. Lupe Robles, 118 pounds; Indian Jim Smith vs. Eddie Crosco, 125 pounds; Ed Rocco vs. John Martinez, 118 pounds; Leo Lopez vs. Joe Pimenthel, 116 pounds.

MISS KOHLER WINS IN JAYSEE ARCHERY

Carrying the highest score at 30 yards and 20 yards, Edna Kohler won the first semi-annual archery tournament at Santa Ana junior college. Shooting 30 arrows at each distance of 40, 30 and 20 yards, Miss Kohler scored 397 points over Mary Edmunds who made 395. Janice Black came in third with 360. Miss Edmunds held the highest individual score at 40 yards.

Applications Pour In For Beaver Post

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 17.—(INS)—In these days of hard times a job's a job, and the boys have not been backward in filing applications for the coaching job left vacant at Oregon State college by Paul Schissler, resigned.

Word from Corvallis states that Graduate Manager Carl Lodell will not have to stir from his office to place his finger on Oregon State's future coach. He has a sheaf of applications from all parts of the country, one as far east as Pennsylvania. Some of the bidders have called in person. The list, however, is withheld.

Indications are that the man will be picked from Pacific Coast applicants in the near future to permit prompt action on spring practice next month.

A move has been started on the Oregon State campus to boost Lon Stiner into Schissler's shoes. Stiner has been assistant coach for the past five years. Even the players are circulating a petition asking that he be signed. Most of the varsity and freshmen players have signed in his favor.

Rumor has it that an application from Mike Pecarovich, Gonzaga's mentor, is in Lodell's desk. Word from California recently quoted Pecarovich as being willing to consider the position. He is one of the hot favorites.

All interest in the Dick Hanley, Northwestern, and Andy Kerr, Colgate, for coach gossip has faded out. Plain announcements that there will be no big money paid for big time boys killed that.

Mohler Sued For Repairs To Airplane

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Orv Mohler, former U. S. C. gridiron star, was defendant today in a $1939 damage suit as the outgrowth of an airplane accident in which he and "Tay" Brown, Troy captain, were principals.

The suit was filed by a flying service which rented the ship to Mohler and Brown for a lecture engagement in San Bernardino county. The plane cracked up during a takeoff.

Mohler said he offered to pay $350 for repairs but refused to meet an $800 demand. The suit listed $807 for repairs and $1125 for the 45 days the company said the ship was out of commission.

SAINTS DEFEAT GARDEN GROVE CAGERS, 53-17

Employing exclusively its list of "football candidates," Santa Ana high school defeated Garden Grove's varsity, 53-17, in a non-conference basketball game at Garden Grove yesterday.

Coach Bill Cook's other players, including his regular combination of Ernie Acker and Weston Sprague, forwards; Harold Youel, center; Bob Schwarm and Al Thielen, guards, were scheduled to meet Coach "Hod" Chamber's Orange Panthers in Andrews gymnasium this afternoon.

Virtually all who saw action against the Chilipeppers came in for their share of the scoring, with Allen Kidder, Francis Conrad, Walt Hendrie and Bob Wimbush each netting 10 or more points. Clair Preininger, fifth member of the lineup, sank only one field goal, but assisted his teammates with passing that was consistently good.

Fred Wiemer, who has worked in the pivot position with each of Santa Ana's court teams, alternated with Hendrie, Hamilton with Conrad, Manning and Preininger.

Using the lineup that Orange defeated, 26-14, last week, Garden Grove started Coates and Smith at forward, Chaffee at center, Lenhardt and Malbon at guard. Chaffee led the losers in scoring with 7 points.

The same team that won yesterday will journey to Long Beach tomorrow afternoon for a practice game with Woodrow Wilson's quintet.

Coast Preparatory league games tonight: Glendale at Long Beach; Pasadena at Alhambra; Santa Ana and San Diego, bye.

The lineup:

Santa Ana (53)		(17) Garden Grove
Kidder (15)	F	(3) Smith
Conrad (14)	F	(5) Coates
Hendrie (10)	C	(7) Chaffee
Preininger (2)	G	(2) Lehnhardt
Wimbush (10)	G	Malbon

Substitutions

Santa Ana—Hamilton for Conrad, Manning for Kidder, Wiemer (2) for Hendrie, Conrad for Hamilton for Preininger, Kidder for Manning for Wimbush, Preininger for Hamilton, Wimbush for Manning.

TROJANS WORK ON PLAYS FOR BRUIN CONTEST

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Faced with the task of smoothing out a brilliant but ragged offense, Coach Sam Barry, today concentrated heavily on scoring plays to prepare the University of Southern California basketball squad for the initial game of the annual series with U. C. L. A. at Olympic auditorium Saturday.

Two victories over Stanford Friday and Faturday placed the Trojans in a tie for first place with the California Bears, but disclosed a need for more polish in floor play. Defensively, the Southern California squad showed great strength, but the Trojan sharpshooters were unable consistently to penetrate the Stanford defense. After a first-half scoring spree in the opening game, Tom Cordry, diminutive Stanford flash, was effectively bottled up, and Keith Topping and John Hancock was forced to resort to long shots.

Against the Bruins from U. C. L. A., Barry will be faced with a proble similar to that set by Stanford. In Don Piper the Bruins have one of the most accurate shots on the coast. But the U. C. L. A. guards, Captain Ted Lemke and George Broetmarkle, are the players expected to trouble the Trojans.

The Trojan first string, composed of Jerry Nemer and Sax Elliot, forwards, Lee Guttero, center, and "Sonny" Anderson and Joe Kelly, guards, took the floor to open practice sessions this week. However, Ward Browning, sophomore forward, is the object of a great deal of attention from Coach Barry. Julius Bescos, who is rapidly rounding into shape, also sees plenty of action during practice sessions, fitting in at a guard position.

Ernie Holbrook, who was injured early in the season, is expected to return to the squad this week, and he may break into the lineup at forward. Holbrook's accurate shooting will be valuable to the Barrymen when his injured ankle is completely healed. "Hop" Findlay, another cripple, is nursing a charley horse. He, also, may return to action before the Bruin game.

Fred Lenhart New Coast Ring Champ

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. —(UP) — Fred Lenhart, Tacoma, Wash., battler, was the new Pacific Coast heavyweight boxing champion today.

Lenhart won a 10-round decision over Tom Patrick, Los Angeles, before a packed auditorium here last night to annex the title which Patrick had held.

Lenhart was credited with five rounds, Patrick Three. Two were even.

S. A. GIRL NO. 2 IN SOUTHLAND NET RANKINGS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, National singles champion, and Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles are the ranking southern California tennis players for 1932.

The official ratings, announced by the Southern California Tennis association today, will be presented for approval by officers and directors of the association tonight.

Lester Stoefen, Southern California singles titlist, moved into second place from fourth place, while Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, dropped from second to third in the 1932 ratings.

Miss Babcock displaced Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana as the leading feminine player of the Southland. Helen Marlowe Dimitrijevic is ranked third.

Vines and Gledhill are ranked first in the men's doubles, with Jack Tidball and Elbert Lewis of Los Angeles, second.

Gracyn Wheeler, Santa Monica, is the ranking player in the junior girls' singles division; Natalie Hill is first in the girls' singles, 15-year division; Gene Mako of Glendale is first in the junior boys' singles, as well as holding sixth in the men's singles rating, while Robert Riggs is first in the boys' singles 15-year-old division.

RAMAGE, GRIFFITHS CLASH AT OLYMPIC

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Lee Ramage, young San Diego heavyweight contender, will meet the veteran "Tuffy" Griffiths at the Olympic tonight.

Ramage ruled a slight favorite to win because of good showings in workouts and Griffiths' recent decline in the ranks of heavyweights. The fight is scheduled for 10 rounds.

Both fighters promised victory in an endeavor to win a match with Mickey Walker.

Seraphs To Begin Training Feb. 27

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The first contingent of the Los Angeles baseball club will arrive at spring training headquarters at San Bernardino Feb. 27, it was announced today. The vanguard will include 16 pitchers and five catchers, the largest number of early birds the Angels ever recruited.

Club officials today awaited the arrival of Bill Veeck, boss of the Chicago Cubs, to discuss pending player deals.

MRS. MOODY TO PASS UP TRIP, PLAY AT HOME

By RALPH B. JORDAN
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—(INS)—It's "perfectly satisfactory" to Helen Wills Moody, the world's tennis queen, to go unranked this year, but she plans to give the United States Lawn Tennis association plenty of data to consider before the next rankings are out.

"Queen Helen," unranked because of "insufficient data" was not disappointed nor surprised at the association's announcement, despite the fact that she successfully defended her Wimbledon title and despite the fact that the data on her includes a handful of American championships during the past seven or eight years.

"It's perfectly satisfactory to me," she said at her home here today. "I was abroad most of the year and didn't appear in any of the American tournaments. I suppose the rankings were justified; that the association didn't have enough data on my 1932 play.

"The head of the committee called on me in New York when I was en route home from Europe and told me the association would like to rank me but was afraid it couldn't be done. I told him I didn't want to be ranked; to give the matter no concern; the home players deserved the ratings."

Mrs. Moody scid she was "pleased" at the No. 1 spot awarded Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, her unsuccessful rival for years; that Miss Jacobs is "a fine" player and "deserves her honors."

"Queen Helen" plans to be present in August at Forest Hills for the next National championship.

"I'm not going to Europe this year," she said. "If I did I'd have to leave in April and I've just barely arrived home. So, I'll confine my efforts to American tournaments."

She described her game at the present time as "just about the same as usual" and added that she was enjoying playing with a group of old friends at the California Tennis club here.

Her only problem is the change from the fast, slick wooden indoor courts of Europe to the hard asphalt or clay courts of this country.

"But I'll get used to our courts again," she smiled.

DONS MEET ORANGE 'Y' HOOPMEN NEXT

Santa Ana junior college, off to an impressive victory over San Bernardino in its first Orange Empire conference start, meets a strong Y. M. C. A. quintet from Orange in Andrews gymnasium tomorrow night, Coach Bill Foote of the Dons announced today.

Boasting such stars as William Kolkhorst, "Cotton" Bennett and Joe Conkright, who also play with the Champion First Christians of the Santa Ana Church league, the Orange team should give the junior collegians a real workout.

Their non-conference game tomorrow will serve as final competition this week for the Dons, who enjoy a bye in their league Saturday, play at Pomona January 28.

CONTRACTS OF OTHER PLAYERS PUT IN MAILS

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Babe Ruth, baseball's highest salaried player, fired the first gun in the big 1933 holdout war by rejecting a one-year contract from the New York Yankees because it contained a reduction—of probably $15,000.

The war was expected to flare out on all fronts today as players throughout the nation received registered letters containing depression contracts.

Ruth apparently was not upset.

"When I saw the figures in that contract, I knew right away someone was kidding me," he said, grinning broadly as he sorted out some brand new phonograph records.

"It's a little too early for Valentine's Day, so I didn't appreciate the joke. What did I do? I mailed the contract right back where it came from. One look at those figures—"

"What figures, Babe?" he was asked.

"I'll let the club tell you about that. All I can say is that their offer wasn't enough—not by a long shot. And I'll not sign at those figures."

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, jovial owner of the Yankees, would add little to Babe's announcement when he was cornered at his brewery. He declined to reveal the figures, but admitted the contract "contained a reduction."

This sham battle between Ruth and Ruppert is a part of the baseball season.

Although one source fixes the reduction at $15,000, others believe it was $20,000. Last year Ruth received $75,000 on a one year contract. Some observers predict that Ruppert has offered a $20,000 slash, hoping to compromise at $10,000.

Ruth denied emphatically that he was "slipping." He said he could play as good as ever—"perhaps not so fast on my feet out there in right field"—but he could still land on the "old apple." He said he was in training and was within two pounds of playing weight, "right now."

Bob Kiesel Joins U. C. Track Team; May Run Quarter

BERKELEY, Jan. 17.—(INS)—Brutus Hamilton, University of California's new track coach, surveyed the signup today of 175 varsity and freshman candidates, including Bob Kissel, the "Bear Bullet," and announced he would reserve comment "until after a few practice sessions," on what may be expected this season of his cindermen.

Kiesel, by placing his name on the roster, definitely dispelled campus rumors that he intended to quit track because of a pulled leg muscle sustained while running the last lap in the 400-meter relay of the Olympic Games last summer.

"The leg has worried me," Kiesel said, "but I'll start work today and Coach Hamilton will soon know what my chances are in the sprints.

It is possible Kiesel may run in longer races—perhaps the 440—until he gets into form. Longer races would not place undue strain on the injured muscle.

The Bear track schedule which does not include competition in the I. C. 4-A meet:

March 4—U. of San Francisco at Berkeley.
March 25—U. C. L. A. at Berkeley.
April 1—U. S. C. at Los Angeles.
April 8—Olympic club at Berkeley.
April 15—Stanford at California.
May 13—Fresno Relays.

DEBTORS

The order has been whispered down the line in congress that the bankruptcy legislation must be enacted before April 1.

It is needed primarily to meet the situatio nof two railroads in the first quarter. Its ultimate benefits will extend much further. Nearly all factions are agreed on the necessity for it—Republicans and Democrats, Liberals and Conservatives.

Benefits it will give to the worried little business man as well as the corporations have not been fully advertised. Those who are sponsoring the legislation were afraid of stirring everyone up about the seriousness of the situation.

Ultimately it will prove to be a more powerful sedative than the R. F. C. was a year ago.

The LaGuardia formula was worked out in confidential conferences between Congressman LaGuardia and Prof. Berle of Columbia University, although no one is supposed to know that. Berle is one of the college professors associated with Mr. Roosevelt. The subject was fully discussed first at the New York conference of Mr. Roosevelt and the Democratic congressional leaders as reported previously.

But it was first brought to public attention in the message Mr. Hoover sent to congress a week after the events recited above. So far as ca nbe proved there was no connection between the New York conference, introduction of the bill by La Guardia, and the Hoover message.

Yet they all focused on the same object.

The situation is simple. The railroads have not enough collateral or standing to be refinanced. A lot of other people are in the same fix. Farmers are getting rebellious against foreclosures. Small borrowers have received no relief through the government mortgage setup.

The proposal is to let the railroads come before the I. C. C. and the corporations and individuals come into the federal courts for adjudication of their situation. If they can pay a little, that will be adjudged enough. If they cannot pay anything they will get an official moratorium. That at least is the purpose of the legislation.

The line forms on the right.

PARITY

The problem behind the farm bill now is political.

The boys in charge cannot make up their minds whether they want to pass it and let Mr. Hoover veto it. They fear he might be able to prejudice the legislation before the country. Then when Mr. Roosevelt comes in and signs it, th elaw may be in a bad light in the public mind.

In the end they will have to come around to passing it. Pressure for action is strong. The senate will delay it but there will certainly be a vote before March 4.

There can be no doubt about the presidential veto. Every congressman realizes it now. The hand of the White House has been working indirectly against the legislation for some time.

The word has gone around inside that Treasury Secretary Mills has confidentially prepared a 25-page argument against it. This is being run in a current periodical under the name of a prominent writer. Attorney General Mitchell is known to be preparing to hold the bill unconstitutional. The presidential political secretary Walter Newton has been lobbying against it in the legislative halls.

They had to take in dairy products, rice and even peanuts in the house in order to get the bill passed. Without support of Congressmen from the dairy, rice and peanut sections the final vote would have been too close for comfort. That made the bill look silly. The standing joke in the house cloakroom was whether they would add angora goats and follies girls.

They have a slick scheme to get around that in the senate. They will change the bill so it applies to all products having a substantial exportable surplus and let the secretary of agriculture decide which those are.

The lobby conducted against the farm bill in the house was a fizzle. The meat packers especially appear to have overplayed their hand.

It will be different in the senate. The lobby will be more efficiently conducted by certain grain interests from Chicago. They opened offices here as soon as the bill passed the house.

PHILIPPINES

The Filipino independence lobby could count only 46 senators as certain for their bill when the house over-rode Mr. Hoover's veto. That was not enough. They needed 18 more and they went to work to get them. They were by no means certain they could.

The lowdown on that situation is that the Philippine legislature will refuse to approve the bill anyhow.

Philippine independence is coming, probably within a year. But the terms of the existing bill may be changed plenty before the islands are cut loose.

Farm lobbyists privately confess that the influence of Philippine imports on the farmers has probably been exaggerated. They say the farmers did not know what copra was until agitation against Philippine importations of its was started among them.

They suspect that sugar is at the bottom of the Philippine independence movement. That will help a group of farmers—the beet sugar boys. It will also help a certain New York bank with Cuban sugar interests.

Agitation among the farmers was unquestionably encouraged by these parties.

NOTES

Tammany went down the line for the Allotment Farm bill although its constituents are against it. . . . Nearly all member of the Tammany congressional delegation voted for it. . . . They had to in order to preserve their standing with the Roosevelt crowd. . . . Young Henry Morgenthau is handling the farm mortgage relief legislation for Mr. Roosevelt. . . . The Robinson bill in the senate largely represents his views. . . . It would grant a three year moratorium and reduce interest from 7 and 8 per cent down to 4 1-2 per cent. . . . Something like that is coming. . . . That is to be the farmers' share of the bankruptcy legislation. . . . In case you did not know, copra is dried cocoanut meat.

UTILITIES

Formation of the Edison Electric Institute to replace the old National Electric Light association fires a shot that will be heard 'round the financial and industrial world. The plan has five sharp points.

1. It is the first large scale attempt at industrial self-regulation by a virtual dictatorship from within. Actual authority is involved far beyond the announcements.

2. It is a New York answer to Chicago's designs on financial leadership and swings the balance of utility power back to the east.

3. It places Morgan interests at the head of the whole nation's utility destinies.

4. It is a smashing reply to the plan of certain utility people to revive the old style propaganda in a big way recently referred to in this column.

5. It aims to clean house so thoroughly that the demand for government regulation of utilities will be disarmed.

The original working out of the plan was almost entirely in the hands of Morgan representatives. The only exception was an emmisary from North American. About 85 per cent of the important utility interests in the country are participating.

There are several significant absentees from the new lineup. H. C. Hopsons's Associated Gas and Electric, Henry L. Doherty's Cities Service, the Utility Power and Light group of the Harley Clarke interests are among the missing. will be permitted to join without will be permited to join without radical revision of some of their policies.

An important participant from the New York-Chicago angle is the Commonwealth Edison of Chicago. It means that this leading ex-Insull operating company is willing to accept eastern leadership.

The East-West utility rivalry traces openly to 1931. In that year United Gas Improvement and Public Service of New Jersey—Morgan outfits—withdrew from the National Electric Light association. The N. E. L. A. was then dominated by Insull interests which were riding high. The two seceders came back to the fold last year when it became apparent that the Insull leadership was doomed.

It was decided to dissolve the N. E. L. A. entirely instead of merely revising its policy because of the organization's history as an instrument of propaganda. From now on it will be a game of freeze-out between the "open covenant" advocates and certain old timers. The pressure will be such that some of the latter may have to reform or quit.

CARLISLE

Floyd Carlisle of Consolidated Gas is a man to watch. He has gained stature rapidly in recent months and is keenly alive to the necessity for changes in the old order. He is a man of 51 and may be described as one of the younger generation of executives who are gradually taking over the key positions in industry.

REGULATION

The Edison Institute's program for full publicity and for sounder relations between holding and operating companies accords closely with the Roosevelt campaign doctrine on utilities. If the institute applies its policies effectively — which it will—it may mean that Roosevelt will call off the legislative hounds. The president-elect is known to prefer to gain his ends by peacable negotiations rather than by a knockdown and dragout fight.

CABINET

Informed New Yorkers believe that John W. Davis will not be attorney-general. That Norman Davis will not be secretary of state but will be used in high advisory capacities. . . . That Baruch will not be in the cabinet. . . . That Farley is the only certainty. . . . That Miss Perkins of New York and Wallace of Iowa are possibilities. . . . That all decisions but the one are in a state of flux. . . . That choice of director of the budget is being given as deep thought as goes to any cabinet officer because this is of gravest moment.

ANAHEIM COOPERATIVE HOUSE REPORTS $585,594 RETURNS, RECORD LOW PACKING COSTS

Members of the Anaheim Co-operative Orange association were told today at the annual meeting, that this concern had received $585,594.14 for the fruit handled during the 1932 seasons, and that packing costs for the year were the lowest of record for this association.

The meeting was held at noon, today, after a turkey dinner for 250 members, in the First Christian church. J. A. Baker, president of the co-operative, was in charge of the meeting. The report of business for the year was given by H. W. Pierce, manager.

Several short talks on general conditions in the citrus industry, and prospects for the coming year, were given by officials of the Mutual Orange Distributors, the speakers being C. P. Sarley, general manger; W. H. Blodget, field manager; E. J. Brickell, manager of the supply department, and H. L. Thomason, growers' service department.

In condensed detail, the financial report of the Anaheim co-operative shows that hte receipts were nearly $600,000, and the concern refunded also a total of $113,965.45 to its growers. Of this amount, $43,205.58 represented the revolving fund, and $70,759.87 was returned from thep acking retain.

Costs 40 Cents Box

"There have been reductions in packing costs in every particular, from salaries and wages to the costs of nearly all supplies," Pierce stated, in explaining the refund. "This meant a larger refund, which is given out of a retain of 65 cents a packed box, retained only on the fruit actually packed and shipping.

Packing costs for the year were 40 cents a packed box, the statement explain, on the basis of all fruit handled.

The value of the co-operative setup for the citrus industry of California was emphasized in the report by Pierce.

"Most other crops failed to pay the cost of harvesting and marketing," he stated. "Citrus did do better than this, as it has paid something to the grower. But we believe that if it had not been for the co-operative organizations the citrus industry would have been in the same condition as other agriculture. In a year like this, the value of your co-operative organization is apparent.

"Total shipments of oranges from California and Arizona in the past year shows but about 42 oranges per year per capita, which is less than one orange a week. Can this be called over-production? If the buying powerw ere available and proper distribution in operation, the American people certainly would consume several times that number of oranges."

Another point of interest explained to the growers was that the precooling plant, built by the association in 1929, had paid itself out completely in four years instead of the five years originally planned.

S. A. MAN GETS PATENT PAPERS ON DART GAME

Otto F. Schroeder, 2227 Lincoln, Santa Ana rancher, has been granted a patent on a new game of darts, it was learned today in a communication from Clarence A. O'Brien, patent attorney in Washington, D. C.

The game of darts, as ordinarily played, consists of throwing sharpened darts toward a board target with various sized rings for scoring. The local inventor has devised a dart which will explode when the dart strikes the board. He believes that the explosion will give an added zest to the game.

The mechanical details of the dart are designed along simple lines to promote economy in manufacture, it is learned.

Charles D. Swanner, local attorney, handled the inventor's interests from Santa Ana.

REDLANDS MAN ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF AUTO

Wanted on several charges, chief of which is burglary in connection with the stealing of an automobile from the private garage of John H. McCoy at 334 Normandy street, several weeks ago, Carl E. Sanders, 22, of 305 West State street, Redlands, was arrested yesterday.

Redlands officers made the arrest on information furnished by the Santa Ana police department and the man was returned here last night. Today before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison, he waived his preliminary examination and was held to answer to the superior court in bail of $2000. Bail was not made.

The car stolen was alleged to have been sold to a Long Beach used car dealer, and later was recovered by the police in Torrance.

Santa Ana police said Sanders also admitted that he had cashed a fictitious check here on December 10. He is not charged with that offense however.

The man also is wanted by Riverside county officers as an escape from a Riverside road camp.

Following his arraignment before Justice Morrison he was removed to the Orange county hospital where he will undergo treatment for rheumatism, officers said. He is in the prison ward there.

POLICE READY FOR ACTION: FALSE ALARM

Santa Ana police officers yesterday afternoon were all ready to catch a hold-up man in the act, but the laugh was on them.

A man came into the Neal Sporting Goods store on East Fourth street yesterday afternoon and began making signs. Mrs. Neal, behind the counter, grew suspicious, wrote a note to a boy in the store and sent him out with it. The note read: "Come in or call police for me. Man in here acting funny."

The boy rushed the note to a merchant nearby and the merchant called the police and told them at Neal's place was being held up.

Chief of Police F. W. Howard, Assistant Chief Harry Fink and Officer Nelson rushed to the scene and grabbed the man.

He turned out to be a deaf mute, who had come into the store to get paper to wrap up a few bundles he had with him. After the excitement quieted down, the deaf mute, who gave his name as Glenn Edwards, from Pittsfield, Mass., asked for a piece of paper and a pencil. He wrote:

'What's it all about anyway?"

FUND SOUGHT WOULD MEAN CUT IN TAXES

In an effort to get a fair share of the gasoline tax money paid in to the state treasury by residents of cities, a committee of 100 Santa Ana citizens will be appointed to promote the plan of the League of Municipalities in getting more money for the cities from the tax fund.

The idea was approved at a meeting of chamber of commerce directors and a special committee on referendums which met last night in the chamber offices in the courthouse annex.

City Councilman J. L. McBride, who has been active in the proposed program to obtain a fair share of the gas tax money for cities, outlined the present situation in regard to the matter at the meeting. He declared that if the cities would get their equitable share, the amount which Santa Ana would receive would reduce taxes in this city 20 cents.

Charles Rutledge, president of the chamber, was authorized to appoint the committee, which will hold a meeting with representatives of auto clubs in the near future to discuss the gas tax problem. The appointments were expected to be completed by tomorrow.

The group cast ballots on two referendums sent out by the United States Chamber of Commerce, one of which deals with debts owed the United States and the other deals with a revision of national banking laws. Due to the many matters to be voted on in the referendums, and because the chamber of commerce office was flooded with applicants for jobs on the Colorado river aqueduct, the office force was not able to tabulate the votes today. Results will be announced tomorrow, according to Secretary George A. Raymer.

The chamber of commerce tax committee plans to stage four public meetings in February when county tax problems will be discussed. Charts are being prepared showing exactly how the tax dollar is spent in Orange county

The bill which is pending in the state legislature which would reduce contributions by the state for educational purposes was discussed but the matter was referred to the legislative committee for action at a meeting to be held in the near future.

TRAGEDY EMPTIES CRIB

It was either the work of a madman, or a fiendish act of vengeance, police are agreed, that brought death to 4-months-old Frank Michael Cammarano as he lay in the crib pictured here. The baby was asleep on the second floor of his parents' home in New York when he was stabbed. An aunt, Theresa Cammarano, is shown where the slayer is believed to have stood. Police were without a single significant clue.

WORLD AFFAIRS GROUP TO HEAR TALK ON FRANCE

"France and Her Relations to the United States" will be discussed Thursday night at the dinner meeting of the Santa Ana Council of International Relations. T. H. Glenn, head of the English department at the junior college, will be the speaker.

The meeting will be held at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, 105 East Fifth street, upstairs, and dinner will be served at 6 o'clock. Reservations for the dinner may be made by telephoning 2043, Miss Stella Mueller, the secretary. Persins who cannot attend the dinner are urged to hear the address which is scheduled to start at 7 o'clock.

Glenn is well qualified to discuss French affairs having spent a number of years there. He spent all last year there traveling and studying during which he studied the French political attitude particularly as it applies to international affairs.

MANY ARTICLES OF CLOTHING DISTRIBUTED

Distribution of articles of clothing received by the Santa Ana chapter of the American Red Cross for needy families was in progress today after the goods had been received from the American Red Cross.

Only the most pressing needs of the most destitute families can be filled with the articles received, owing to the limited quantity received, taking into consideration the large number of needy families in this section, it was pointed out.

The clothing is being distributed from the warehouse at Fifth and Broadway streets where Red Cross government flour is given out to needy families in the southern part of the county.

Goods received by the Santa Ana chapter so far is as follows: 108 men's jumpers, 84 infants' undershirts, 1344 pairs women's cotton hose, 108 pairs boy's overalls, 96 pairs boy's corduroys, 372 children's waist suits, 744 pairs women's bloomers, 792 men's union suits, 456 pairs men's overalls, 36 children's play suits, 144 women's union suits, 684 pairs men's hose (not work hose), 264 boy's union suits, 360 pairs men's trousers, 672 men's work socks, 204 pairs infant's hose and 708 pairs children's hose.

These supplies were divided among the following communities which are served by the Santa Ana Red Cross chapter: Santa Ana, Tustin, Capistrano, San Clemente, Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Costa Mesa, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Seal Beach, Sunset Beach, Orange, Olive, Oceanview, Midway City, Westminster and Talbert.

DR. EINSTEIN MAY LECTURE IN SANTA ANA

Speakers, prominent in the scientific world, and now on the faculty of the California Institute of Technology, including Dr. Albert Einstein, may be brought to Orange county for a series of lectures, if plans of the Orange County High School Principles' association are completed. The lecture series would be for the purpose of creating a special student loan fund in each high school of the county to enable students to attend Caltech.

Plans for the proposed lecture series will be discussed tomorrow night at the monthly meeting of the association to be held at 6 o'clock in the Green Cat cafe. Dr. Robert A. Millikan and Prof. C. E. Watson, Caltech officials, will attend the meeting and assist with planning the course.

According to D. K. Hammond, principle of Santa Ana High school and president of the association, Caltech is offering a few communities in Southern California the opportunity to present a series of scientific lectures for which a small admission fee is to be charged. The entire proceeds from the lectures will be turned into a special fund to aid students attending Caltech. Dr. Millikan, in making the offer, said that for financial reasons many of the best students in the school are withdrawing.

On the Caltech faculty are some of the nation's outstanding scientists who never before have filled lecture engagements other than those connected with the college in Pasadena. These scientists, including Dr. Einstein, according to tentative plans, will present the lectures, tickets for which will be sold by the various high schools.

SEES COMMUNICABLE DISEASE INCREASE FOR CURRENT YEAR AS CONSEQUENCE DEPRESSION

With Dr. Giles S. Porter, state director of health, predicting that the year 1933 will be marked by a decline in public health, Dr. Kenneth Sutherland, county health officer said today that statistics for the latter part of 1932 in Orange county will bear out the prediction.

Dr. Sutherland said that the decline in public health may be traced directly to the depression. Community facilities for combatting disease, he said, have been curtailed with the necessity for reductions in governmental budgets. This has effected the control of communicable diseases.

Improper nourishment, and lack of proper diet, due to unemployment and financial distress, he said, has lowered bodily resistance and increased susceptibility to disease.

While there has been a slight increase in deaths from tuberculosis during the past few months of 1932 over the corresponding months of 1931 this increase was not as great as might be expected. Deaths from tuberculosis in 1931, in Orange county, totalled 77. Up to October 1, 1932 deaths from this disease totalled 70. For the corresponding period in 1931 tubercular deaths were 57.

Dr. Sutherland said that there has been a very definite increase in cases of communicable diseases during the past few months. This increase, he believes is due to lowered resistance through malnutrition. There were 4992 cases of communicable diseases reported to the health department during the year 1932, or 1558 more than the 3434 reported in 1931.

This increase, he pointed out was, to a certain extent due to the outbreak of influenza with 1166 more cases of that disease reported for the year than for 1931. Other communicable diseases, however, showed an increase of 400 cases over 1931.

In reporting on health conditions in the state Dr. Porter has said: "It would seem that the year 1932 is the last of the cycle in which good public health conditions are characteristic.

"The ill effects of the economic depression which began in 1929 will, without doubt, cast their reflection on the public health records for 1933. Already health officers are aware of the beginnings of ill health which may have come as a result of underfeeding, exposure and mental strain due to hard times."

King's Anger

Jivaka, a famous physician (600 B. C.) was obliged to administer a very unpleasant treatment to cure a king. He feared the king's anger to the extent of fleeing on one of his fast elephants. Quite different from the assuredness and tactfulness of our physicians.

Sorority Hostess Uses Unique Development Of Treasure Hunt

When Miss Louise Pee entertained members and friends of her sorority, Kappa Delta Phi, Saturday evening in her home at 417 South Birch street, she had a unique plan in readiness to be put into execution upon their arrival. This included the distribution of lists of some score or more articles of widely divergent character which the young people were to seek in couples, and bring back to the home of their hostess within a time limit of two hours.

Of the entire group, Miss Marcene Cook and Marvin Fritz achieved the greatest success, returning at the expiration of two hours with all but one of the many articles demanded. They were rewarded with appropriate gifts.

With the return of the various couples, Miss Pee served an appetizing buffet supper for which bowls of poinsettias formed colorful decorations.

Participating in the affair were the Misses Kay Pierce, Marcene Cook, Frances Henry, Marie Cline, Inez Pierce, Estelle Schlesinger, Mr. and Mrs. Al Stein, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodfill, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Thomson and Messrs. Chester Siegel, Beano Goldwyn, Larry Rossiter, Vincent Paino, Joe Hamann, Marvin Fritz, Harry Cutler, Wade Thompson and the hostess, Miss Pee.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM
Luncheon

Large serving all-vegetable broth
2 broiled lamb chops, or,
2 pats broiled hamburger
Large portion vegetable salad
¼ head lettuce
2 tablespoons string beans
1 tablespoon green peas
Sliced tomato or pickled beet
Mineral oil French dressing.
Glass of uncreamed buttermilk, or pot of clear tea with lemon, no sugar.

Please take note that my intention is to make the preparation of this diet as simple as possible, using whenever possible foods that will serve the entire family: Today's all-vegetable broth is an example. Well made vegetable broth is fit for a king and splendid for promoting the family's welfare. The recipe was given last week but I will repeat it briefly today:

In a large kettle put diced onion, carrot, a large potato, some stalks of celery, minced parsley, the outer leaves of lettuce (usually thrown away) and a large can of tomato. Add three quarts of water, bring to a rapid boil, season, cover, and simmer until the vegetables are done. Before serving add two tablespoonfuls of butter. Be sure that each serving includes plenty of vegetables.

Again, the family might be included in the meat planned for the diet. By broiling I mean cooking the meat quickly on a hot dry pan—pan broiling to be exact. The same salad will serve for the family if another dressing is used, and of course a vegetable or two must be served as well as some sort of dessert. But it does simplify matters for the dieting housewife, doesn't it?

Are you at sea when it comes to right proportions to use in thickening soups, sauces and souffle bases? Try and remember this simple rule and you'll never go wrong.

One tablespoonful of flour to one cup of milk for cream soups.

Two tablespoonfuls of flour to one cup of milk for cream sauce.

Three tablespoonfuls of flour to one cup of milk for souffle mixtures or any base requiring cream.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Cheese Souffle

Sliced and buttered bread to line bake dish
2 eggs, beaten
1-1/2 cups top milk
1 tbsp. flour
1 tbsp. butter
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. each of dry mustard and paprika
dash of cayenne
1/2 pound grated cream cheese

Cut bread in thin slices, remove crusts, butter, cut in fingers and press them against the sides and bottom of a baking dish.

Melt butter and blend with flour, and seasonings. Clowly add the milk and cook for 10 minutes, then add the grated cheese (take vessel off fire) stir in the beaten eggs and pour the cheese custard carefully into the pan so that the bread will not be disarranged.

Bake 30 minutes in a medium oven and serve at once. A tart salad should contrast the cheese flavor. Nothing beats sliced oranges on lettuce with a tangy French dressing.

The souffle will serve six and the calories total around 1600. This is a tissue-building dish with a liberal allowance of energy foods to make it an all-round dish.

Date is Advanced for Ebell Presentation Of Glacier Priest

Although interest in the approaching lecture engagement of Father Hubbard, the "Glacier Priest," as an Ebell society attraction is increasing from day to day, Ebell members and the general public will have to restrain their impatience to hear this intrepid adventurer tell his experiences, for it was impossible for Father Hubbard to fulfill his lecture engagement on Monday, January 23, so he is to be presented on the following Monday, January 30.

This necessary postponement of the anticipated lecture worked no special hardship on the society, beyond such matters as the tickets and literature concerning the engagement, for it was found possible to advance the usual Ebell meeting date one week, also it was possible to secure the high school auditorium on the afternoon in question.

For because of the interest attached to the appearance here of the famous explorer, writer and lecturer, the society is making his lecture a general event, with tickets obtainable by all interested in hearing him. Special prices will prevail for students. The lecture has been set for 2 o'clock, and in connection with his address Father Hubbard will show fascinating motion pictures of places he has visited, volcano craters, the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, and similar remote and unusual parts of the world.

The group adjourned to the dining room to find all in readiness for serving a delicious refreshment course, with baskets of cotoneaster and red streamers for decorations. Officers of the lodge, with Mrs. Maude Wiley as chairman, were in charge of this feature.

The E. J. Eatons Are Golden Wedding Celebrants

Memories of their wedding day half a century ago were recalled yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Eaton, 707 Spurgeon street, when they were honor guests at an anniversary dinner given in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Eaton of near Anaheim.

On January 16, 1883, in Linn county, Iowa, Miss Margaret Cummings became the bride of E. J. Eaton, and for 20 years the couple lived in the east, coming to California then to make their home where they have lived in the intervening 30 years.

At yesterday's celebration of the golden wedding day, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Eaton were hosts at a delicious turkey dinner with places of honor at the table reserved for their parents. Present also were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ewing of Corona, son-in-law and daughter of the honor guests; their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lowry of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Millice of San Gabriel, with the latter's guest, George Crane of Iowa.

Absent members of the family circle included the son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Eaton, who live in Bolivia, S. A., and could not be here for their parents' golden wedding, and the grandchildren, all of whom were in school, but who include Robert, Chester and the Misses Dorothy, Rena and Virginia Ewing, and Miss Jeanne Eaton.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Eaton find good health one of their richest blessings, and anticipate many other wedding anniversaries. Mrs. Eaton is active in various organizations including First Presbyterian church, Santa Ana Woman's club, Daughters of American Revolution and Order of Eastern Star.

Wedded in the Prersbyterian church at Long Beach at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long today were established in the Bristol apartments at 1309 West Fourth street. Carnations and sweet peas decked h e Chamberlain home for the wedding celebration, a dozen guests partaking of a supper menu about a table centered with sweet peas in tints of pink and yellow. A bridal cake ornamented with miniature bride and bridegroom completed the appointments. Gathered for the banquet were the parents of the couple, Mrs. Alice E. Long and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Chamberlain; William Chamberlain and Edgar Chamberlain jr., brothers of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Conner and Mrs. Mae Reed.

The new Mrs. Long studied at Santa Ana high school, from which she was graduated. Her husband, who came to Santa Ana from Iowa ten years ago, is associated with the Santa Ana Motor Parts and Machine Works (formerly the Kinslow Machine Works).

Emma Sansom Chapter Plans Observance Of Lee Birthday

Although early plans of Mrs. E. A. Cox, program chairman for Thursday's annual Robert E. Lee dinner and birthday observance of Emma Sansom chapter, U. D. C., were to present Colonel Jefferson Davis as speaker at the noon dinner in Spurgeon M. E. church South, those plans have been changed because of duties demanding Colonel Davis in Washington, D. C.

But Mrs. Cox and her program committee feel that they have a program in readiness which will be fully as interesting and valuable to all of Southern descent, for they will have two excellent speakers. Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, is to talk on Robert E. Lee, while Thomas H. Glenn of Santa Ana Junior college faculty, will devote his remarks to the three great southerns who will be jointly honored at this birthday event, Robert E. Lee, "Stonewall" Jackson and Matthew Fontaine Murray.

In addition to the two talks there will be musical features and readings, and the Women's society of Spurgeon Memorial church has promised a fine dinner of traditional southern cookery, according to Mrs. Lillian Pritchett, president of Emma Sansom chapter.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mona Moran, receptionist in a Wall Street law office, is surprised when her childhood sweetheart, Steve Saccarelli, returns to New York after three years of mysterious absence. Mona contributes largely to the support of her mother, invalid father, sister, Kitty, and ne'er-do-well brother, Bud.

Steve has been in South America where, largely by chance, he has become associated with Barry Townsend, rich and socially prominent, who owns a diamond mine. Together they have made the mine, believed worthless, pay handsomely. Steve owns a huge diamond called "The Empress of Peru."

Lottie Carr, fashion model, joins Mona, Barry and Steve on several dinner and dancing engagements. Mona's brother, Bud, is under obligations to Buck Harkins, night club proprietor and gangster, who plots to steal the huge diamond.

Steve suspects this. One night when Mona and Lottie are Steve's guests, Bud telephones that his mother is ill. He comes to take Mona home. Later he returns and is forced to confess he meant to steal the diamond. Knowing the gangsters may kill the boy for this failure, Steve decides to send him to South America. They drive to Boston where Bud boards a boat. Next day Steve explains to Mona what has happened, warning her she must tell no one.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI

The first weeks of spring passed swiftly. Bud's contributions to the household finances began to arrive regularly, putting the flat on a much more comfortable basis. Ma had devised an agreeable fiction concerning her son's new job in Connecticut. She even spoke of the girl he was interested in. Later she announced to her neighbors that Bud's employer had sent him south on a business trip.

"He's working for one of them big Wall Street men," Ma confided to Mrs. Callahan. "Thinks the world of Bud, too, he does."

Kitty was easily consoled over the absence of her brother who had been chief opponent in many a battle across the dinner table. She was delighted now to have a room of her own. Knowing that her school friends would not, upon Bud's arrival, be rudely hustled out of his favorite chair, Kitty took to inviting Isabel and Kathleen to come home with her. She and her friends couldp lay the radio as much as they wished and Ma would never object.

Moreover a brother "down south" gave Kitty a certain prestige among her friends. Ma packed Bud's scant wardrobe and asked Steve to forward it to him.

"But we've already sent word to have Bud completely outfitted," Steve told her. "He won't need these things.

"The lad left without so much as a toothbrush on him. Poor boy!" Ma lamented.

"Seems to me you put on a lot of airs for life in the jungle, Mona suggested when Steve mentioned some of the items of Bud's newly ordered wardrobe.

"Why not? In the army the men used to shave and make themselves spic-and-span to go over the top, didn't they? We live in a jungle—though we don't call it that—but we make ourselves comfortable there. Have lots of servants. Barry and I always dress for diner. We send to Haiti for clothing. And you should see the island we have in the Caribbean for holidays. When we're there we get linen suits from Haiti. We learned about the tailor from the captain of a cruiser. Our orders go over by one mail boat and the suits come back on the return trip. Tailored to measure, too."

"Just as I'd shop in Herald Square if I lived on Long Island!" Mona exclaimed.

'Herald Square? Say—you'd shop on Fifty-seventh street or Madison!"

They laughed together as if their talk was the most amusing in the world.

"Barry wanted me to ask if you and Lottie can't come up to Twiland's for Sunday. He's going Friday and I can drive you and Lottie up Sunday morning if you'll come. We'd have a great time together!"

"I'd love it!" Mona agreed, accepting for Lottie as wel as herself. She knew that Lottie would be only too glad to throw over any other date she might have for such an invitation.

"Barry's uncle is out of town," Steve volunteered as if in answer to unspoken questions.

Mona smiled. "Yes, I know. He's at White Sulphur with Mr. Garretson. They're friends, you know." She stopped rather suddenly. Mona had just remembered that she and Barry had never mentioned to Steve the fact that they had met before Steve's introduction.

"So Garretson knows old Townsend, eh?" Steve said, without suspicion. "Well, we can thank him for this day's invitation. It certainly wouldn't be much fun to visit Twilands if the old man were around."

"Don't he and Barry get along together?"

"Get along?" Steve eyed her. "Oh, so-so! It isn't the old man's fault, I suppose. It's his imagination. He thinks—wel, it's not exactly his imagination either. He's taking out on Barry the ill feelings he had for Barry's father and mother Making their son pay what he owed them."

"Owed them?" Mona queried.

"Well, they played a rather mean trick on him, you must admit."

"But that's not Barry's fault."

"Of course not. But his uncle can't forget it. That's the way of the world, my child."

It was agreed a little later that Steve should call for the two girls at about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, stopping first for Mona and then for Lottie.

"And if she's not ready we won't wait for her!" Steve had insisted. It was ratherw ell known that punctuality was one of the virtues almost entirely foreign to Lottie.

The Morans were awake early Sunday morning. Kitty was to go to spend the day at Alice's as usual. Ma was making her weekly trip to the hospital to see her husband.

Kitty eyed her older sister rather approvingly. "You and Steve certainly make a nice-looking couple," she announced.

"You and Isabel have decided that, have you?" Mona returned.

Ma interrupted the conversation, calling Kitty into the kitchen. A chicken for Dad was all ready roasting in the oven and fragrant hints of the bird's tenderness filled the air. Kitty was far from being in accord with arrangements for the day. She said the kids in Alice's neighborhood were "dumb." She would have to wheel theb aby for an hour before she could settle down with the newspaper comic section. Kitty wanted to go to the hospital with her mother to see Dad.

"Children aren't allowed and you know that, Kathleen Moran." Thus Ma disposes of the appeal briefly. "The doctors say, though, that Dad's getting better. Glory be to God!"

A few more tugs at her overshoes and Kitty was ready to go. She departed with remarks indicating that she found these visits to Alice's flat less and less agreeable.

Ma drew a basket from the closet and packed it lovingly. The baked chicken, fresh rolls, currant jelly. Dad's illness was such that his weeklyb asket might contain almost anything—within realms of discretion—that they cared to pack.

"Give Father a big kiss for me," Mona called to her mother. "Tell him I'll be up to see him Tuesday."

Steve had already telephoned that he was on his way. Mona had answered his call gayly.

She stood before the mirror in her bedroom, touching her cheeks with rouge, then powder, with the utmost care. She brightened her lips with lipstick, pressed her hair into dark, becoming waves about her face and added the faintest dash of perfume to her ear lobes. Then she drew a smart little blue sport frock over her head and settled it into place. The blue hat—the same shade as the dress—was adjusted at just the right, jaunty angle.

Mona steppedb ack from the mirror for a final survey of her costume. Yes, she was satisfied. The blue frock brought out the color of her eyes. Its trim lines revealed—quite modestly—the slender, graceful figure. Mona knew that

Governor Rolph Assails Senator Inman In Letter

SENATOR INMAN IS SUBJECT OF ROLPH ATTACK

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 17.—(UP)—"Unfair and scandalous" was Governor Rolph's description of the senate committee investigatiang his administration, for denying him the right to see the transcript of testimony.

Pointing out that Sen. J. M. Inman had promised him a copy of the transcript as soon as it was typed, the Governor, in a letter to Inman, said that the first day's transcript proved to be "incomplete and garbled."

"I protested," he said, "and in the press you blamed the inexpertness of the stenographers for the incompleteness of the transcript. It as unfortunate, however, that the testimony which was garbled was testimony of Highway Commissioner T. A. Reardon, who asked an opportunity to testify and who refuted the testimony of Col. Garrison. Witnesses called by your committee and hostile to the governor seem to have fared better in the transcript.

"Today I read in the papers an announcement attributed to you in which you state that criticism will be avoided in the future by reserving the transcript for the sole use of the committee.

"That is to say, that, in order that I may no longer check the transcript or discover future errors, omissions and falsifications you intend to hide the garbled and incomplete transcript from the governor and from public view, using it, however, as the basis of your committee's report.

"This conduct on the part of the committee is unfair and scandalous. The way to avoid criticism is not by hiding a false transcript, but by making a correct transcript.

"While your committee was appointed to 'investigate' all branches of the state government, it is manifest that your objective is really to dig up matters detrimental to the governor and the departments under the governor. Yet you will deny me an inspection of the transcript of the evidence, and thus impede me in supply witnesses to meet all false testimony, and you purpose to base your report on a transcript whose falsity you acknowledged after I exposed it.

"I demand that you comply with your promise that a transcript of the testimony will be supplied to me and that you supply a complete and truthful transcript."

FINAL RITES ARE CONDUCTED FOR MRS. BACON

ORANGE, Jan. 17.—Following funeral services for Mrs. Harriett E. Bacon, 90, held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Gillogly Funeral chapel, her body was sent to Wilton, Ia., for burial. Mrs. Bacon's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Park, made the trip east, planning to return home in about a month's time.

The Rev. L. V. Lucas, pastor of the First Methodist church, of which she was a member, officiated. He read from Mrs. Bacon's own Bible, numerous passages which she had marked. Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Goodwin, close friends of the family, sang "Rock of Ages" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," with Mrs. Florence Donegan accompanying at the organ. She played hymns before and after the ceremony.

The chapel was filled with friends of Mrs. Bacon, many of whom had come a distance to attend the rites.

Mrs. Bacon will be buried besides the grave of her husband, Francis Bacon, who passed away 28 years ago. She was born in Seymour, Conn., and was a graduate of Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, Ia. A member of the Orange W. C. T. U., Mrs. Bacon begun her temperance work as a Crusader with other pioneer temperance workers.

Until recently Mrs. Bacon had been the teacher of the Dorcas Sunday school class of the First Methodist church and she took part in numerous programs given at church and social affairs. She was able to repeat entire chapters of the Bible from memory and until her death took an active part in church and W.C.T.U. activities.

PULMOTOR SQUAD SAVES LIVES OF ELDERLY COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Scidmore, both approximately 7$ years of age, have the Santa Ana fire department pulmotor squad to thank for being alive today.

Last night the aged couple were asphyxiated by gas escaping from a small heater. They were found unconscious by their daughter, Mrs. Amelia Smith about 1 o'clock this morning.

The pulmotor squad responding to a call immediately began work on the aged couple. At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the victims still were unconscious, but were showing signs of responding to treatment and attending physicians were of the belief that the couple would live.

PASTOR SAYS GREED DOOMED BY NEW ORDER

ORANGE, Jan. 17.—Expressing a belief that greed and the desire to out-distance someone else in the activities of life, would give way to a social order in which the human needs of all would be met with man considering the problems of others as his own problems, the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church of Santa Ana, spoke to an interested group on "Technocracy" at the meeting of the Orange Men's club at the Trinity Episcopal church parish house last night.

Chairmen Named

Alfred Higgins, president of the club, was in the chair for the first time since his election and announced the chairmen of committees for the year. M. M. Fishback will be the chairman of the program committee, Ben Brubaker, financial committee, and Ross Taylor, entertainment committee. A silent tribute was paid to the late Calvin Coolidge. At the March meeting of the club the speaker is to be Capt. John Wilkie, former member of the United States secret service.

The Rev. Mr. Schrock traced the displacement of men by machines and stated that a group of engineers working from Columbia university had predicted the present depression as early as 1921 but that the period had arrived six months before the time scheduled.

Facts Revealed

The speaker declared that the present depression is not the same as others in the past and that it is not going to be cured by a change of administration. The chief value of technocracy is that existing facts have been shown up, he said.

The speaker cited figures from numerous industries to show the amazing rate which man power is being displaced by machines and said that a machine to manufacture electric lights had displaced 9000 men. Four turbine engines develop enough energy to equal the output of all the adult workers in the United States, said the Rev. Mr. Schrock. The speaker declared that an official of the Bell telephone system had recently stated that of the thousands of men out of work in Philadelphia, many would never go to work again.

Everyone wants to know about technocracy because of the promise it holds, said the speaker, as he stressed the fact that the group of 35 technological engineers has increased to 350. Fascism, communism, socialism and capitalism are all outgrown, said the speaker, and government by the present type of politicians must go. Men must be in government positions because of ability and not because of ability to pull votes, he declared.

Use of Leisure Time

The use of leisure time which would come if a distribution of labor were made, and other aspects of an era which might come if a new social order existed, were discussed by members and the speaker. It was brought out that the use of the energy unit as a medium of exchange had been suggested but that any medium which would displace the present price system could be used.

Eugenics were discussed by the speaker, who stated that army tests had revealed that 40 per cent of parents were sub-normal and that this number produced 75 per cent of the babies born in the nation.

Other speakers included George Stoner, M. L. Pearson, Ben Brubaker, George Sherwood, W. M. Cummings, the Rev. Franklin H. Minck and A. Haven Smith.

SAFETY PROGRAM HELD WEDNESDAY

ORANGE, Jan. 17.—A program on "Safety" is to be given Wednesday afternoon at the monthly meeting of Lydia Killeger P.-T. A. to be held at 2:30 o'clock in the school. Fourth grade students, with their teacher, Mrs. Annice Blythe, will be in charge of thep rogram.

Mrs. F. R. Valentine, president, will preside over the business session.

SALES TAX IS SUGGESTED IN ROLPH BUDGET

etc., under legislative control, $12,989,325.

5. Reduce state highway budget by 22.29 per cent, the same as other state functions, $10,000,000.

6. Submit to people at a special election in February a plan to reduce fixed charges for school support by the state, $12,000,000.

7. Submit to people at same special election a constitutional amendment permitting the state to "borrow" the permanent school fund, $11,000,000.

As in previous budgets, expenditures were grouped under three heads, general government, education, and highway budgets. The "general government" budget, which represents items under the governor's control, totaled $61,-328,328.34, a decrease of 5.69 per cent.

Budgets Reduced

The education budget totaled $84,324,659.13, a decrease of 3.40 per cent, while highways totaled $107,002,176, a decrease of 14.03 per cent.

The impending deficit in the general fund, Rolph explained, would have been $13,000,000, if economies had not been introduced to produce savings of $4,000,000 over the present budget.

The deficit, now estimated at $9,-500,000, can be averted, he said, if the legislature will:

Reimburse the general fund for highway bond interest and redemption, $8,779,750; abolish emergency permanent improvement act of 1929 to care for replacement of property destroyed by "acts of God," $53,215; repeal appropriation for San Francisco livestock pavilion, not matched as required by the act, $250,000; return loan to California toll bridge authority, $50,-000; return unspent balnce of appropriation for Santa Ana flood control, $150,000.

"If the legislature does not approve these reductions or eliminations, or their equivalent as urgency measures, then it must approve during the first half of this session provisions for additional taxes," said Rolph.

The legislature could raise approximately $50,000,000 a biennium by adopting a sales tax, Governor Rolph said in his budget message today.

Suggested sources and revenues were:

Tobacco—Cigarettes, 3 cents per 20, $8,000,000; other tobacco products, 10 per cent, $3,580,000; retail dealers license $5 to $10; $550,000; total, $12,130,000.

Beverage Tax

Beverages confectionary — Malt syrup, extracts, wort and carbonic gas, 5 cents pound, $550,000; fountain syrups, 76 cents per gallon, $1,400,000; bottled drinks, 1 cent per half pint, $2.100,000; soft drinks at fountains (excluding ice cream) 1 cent each 5 cents, $5,090,-000; confectionery, 10 per cent, $2,890,000; chewing gum, 20 per cent, $1,.225,000; total, $13,255.000.

Business documents, playing cards—Stock transfer stamp, 2 centsp er $100 parv olue, $450,-000; tax on bond transfers, 3 cents per $100 par value, $90,000; tax on original issues, stocks, bonds, certificates of indebtedness, 5 cents per $100 par values, $338,000; documentary stamp taxes, notes, conveyances, other documents, sundry, $720,000; stamp tax on playing cards 10 cents per pack, $270,-000; total $1,868,000.

Luxuries — Cosmetics (exclusive of dentrifices and talcums) and patent medicines, 20 per cent, $5.-971,000; jewelry, 5 per cent, $1,-440,000; sporting goods and furs, 10 per cent, $1,160,000; musical instruments, 5 per cent, $368,000; radio sets and parts 5 per cent, $2,000,000; cameras, 10 per cent, $315,000; motion picture films and photographic supplies, 5 per cent, $748,000; total $12,002,000.

Taxes on amusements—Admissions tax, movies, theatrical entertainments, etc., 1 per cent each 10 cents, $5,350,000; tax on initiation fees, and dues, social, athletic or sporting clubs, exempt if not over $10, 10 per cent, $1,275,000; gross receipts tax, athletic exhibitions, racing, rodeos, circuses, etc., exempting school athletics, 10 per cent, $255,000; privilege tax, highway advertising signs, 5 cents per square foot, $340,000; total $7,220,-000.

Beer tax (if legalized by congress) $5,000,000.

SPECIAL MESSAGE SENT TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—President Hoover insisted in another special message to congress today that the Federal budget be balanced by reduction of expenses and adoption of a manufacturers' excise tax.

He told congress its efforts so far to put the government on a pay-as-you-go basis had been "disappointing." He reminded congress it had not adhered to his budget message recomemndations, nor had it adopted his consolation program.

Unless congress adopts a manufacturers' excise tax, excluding food and cheaper clothing, and reduces expenses drastically he predicted that the deficit for the next fiscal year would reach the stupendous sum of from $920,000,000 to $1,120,000,000.

HALLORAN HEARING OPENS IN PHOENIX

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan 17.—(UP)—The state was successful today in introducing at the hearing of J. J. Halloran, accused of having been an accessory after the murder of Agnes Anne Leroi, court records showing that Winnie Ruth Judd was under sentence to hang for Mrs. Leroi's death.

The move, vigorously resisted by Halloran's counsel, was taken, the state said, to prevent any attempt by Halloran to claim Mrs. Judd shot in self defense when she killed Mrs. Leroi and her room-mate, Hedvig Samuelson.

ASSEMBLYMEN ASK EXPRESSION ON TWO BILLS

The Register is in receipt of an open letter from Assemblyman James B. Utt and Edward Craig in regard to the proposed action of the legislature on schol costs. The letter follows:

"We have received from Orange county telegrams representing over 7000 membtrs of the County P.-T. A. in protest of any cut in the state schore of school cots. At the present time there are three Senate bills that are in regards to school costs. Briefly they are as follows:

"The Breed bill which contemplates by constitutional amendment to be voted upon by the people as quickly as possible. A straight 20 per cent reduction in the state's contribution.

"The Ingels bill which is similar to the Breed bill, except his bill states that the state's share shall be the same but that the county must cut 20 per cent.

"The Jones bill which would not reduce either the state or counties support but would lower the maximum tax rate which could be levied in any one year by boards of trustees of school districts. This bill would provide the following district cut on elementary schools:

Building, 60c cut to 47c.

For other purposes, 30c cut to 20c on the basis of every $100 assessed valuation.

For purposes other than building, 45c cut to 30c.

For high school districts, 75c cut to 50c, to be used in the discretion of the board for building or other purposes.

For junior college districts, 50c cut to 35c. The proceeds to be used in the discretion of the board for building or other purposes.

"This bill to cut district taxes is predicted on the fact that last year the state's share of school costs was approximately $29,000.-000 or 17 per cent. The county approximately $40,000,000 or 23 per cent and the district $100.-000,000 or 59 per cent. Senator Jones claims that his bill would cut $28,000,000 off of the district tax. There are other bills concerning school costs but the above three are the major bills.

"As your representatives we naturally went to give our county the legislation it wants in regard to cutting the costs of schools. To date we have received almost unanimous opposition against the Breed Bill, but have heard nothing on the Ingels or Jones bills and as the Breed bill is to be taken up immediately we feel that we shall be representing our constituents by opposing this bill.

"We want to, at this time, take this means to thank the numerous groups who have wired us and ask them to consider this an answer to their telegrams."

HEIRESS-EXPLORER PLANS EXPEDITION

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Miss Louise A. Boyd, California heiress and Arctic explorer, applied to the foreign office today for permission to take an expedition into East Greenland this summer. It was believed that authorization would be granted, although The Hague court is considering whether Norway or Denmark has jurisdiction over East Greenland.

Miss Boyd's Arctic records include going further north than any other white woman, and killing seven ice bears in one day. She has been entertained and decorated by the rulers of Denmark and Norway and in 1928 joined the search for Raold Amundsen.

And then a funny thing took place. A big snow patch messed up the race. All of the Tinies tripped in it and took a funny spill.

"That ends the race", old Freezy cried. "I guess we'll have to call it tied." "That suits me," answered Coppy. "Call it off. I've had my fill."

Then Duncy jumped to his feet and said, ""I'll show you something neat." He skated out across a spot where none of them had been.

The otheres heard a cracking sound and, when wee Scouty looked around, he shouted, "To the rescue, lads! Poor Duncy's fallen in!"

$90,000 Budget Due for Placentia School District

PLACENTIA, Jan. 17.—Something of the reduced budgets of schools of Orange county was shown at the Placentia school board meeting last night, when the president of the board, LeRoy Lyon, said that with reduced valuations this year, and without considering the reduction that may come if the constitutional amendment is passed, taking away part of state aid, the Placentia Union Grammar school district may have a budget of $80,000 to $90,000 next year, against one of $140,000 for 1931-1932. The budget this year is reduced to about $116,000.

FAT MEN

Mr. Clarence A. Case of Monterey Park, Calif., writes: "I've fought a tendency toward obesity since 33 yrs. old (now 48) and have found Kruschen Salts the only satisfactory remedy. When the old belt begins to tighten I get back on Kruschen for a bottle or so and take off from 12 to 18 pounds easily and quickly." (July 18, 1932).

To lose fat surely and SAFELY, take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning.

But be sure to get Kruschen—your health comes first—a bottle that will last you 4 weeks costs but a few cents at McCoy's Drug Co.—2 stores, Kelley's Drug Co., Ltd., or any drugstore in the world—if not satisfied—money back.—Adv.

APPRAISAL FOR GRADE SCHOOLS IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Jan. 17.—Placentia union grammar school properties are to be reappraised soon, according to action taken by the board of directors in session last night.

The work will be done by the General Appraisal company. Action was taken by the board of trustees, all of whom were present, preparatory to the letting of insurance for the ensuing year. It is anticipated that reappraisal will reveal a much lowered valuation of the properties.

Some time was employed at discussing the Breed bill, a legislative measure now in committee designed to amend the state constitution and to reduce the payments to districts of state money. LeRoy Lyon, president of the board, suggested that he will make an effort to get the Orange county school trustees to call an institute to take united action on the issue.

Superintendent Riddlebarger suggested he thought it advisable, from economic reasons, to close school where attendance is below 75 per cent normal. The cause of low attendance has been attacks of influenza, he said. No action was taken.

After considerable controversy, the sanitary board and the Placentia grammar school board came to an agreement that the tax on the school property within the city of Placentia should not exceed $250 annually for both the Baker street and the Bradford schools, hereafter. The board, on that basis, agreed to pay the tax levied this year by the sanitary board amounting to $461.31, $425.31 on the Bradford buildings and $36 on the Baker street building. It was pointed out that the matter of paying a sanitary tax is out of the question and that some grammar school districts may refuse to do so. However, Lyon said, the schools pay a road tax, the only other one levied, and members of the committee, meeting at the last meeting with the sanitary board, agreed to pay the tax.

COSTA MESA BOY SCOUTS IN TESTS

COSTA MESA, Jan. 17.—In a series of events which are being practiced for the spring Orange County Boy Scout jamboree, patrol leader, Willard Viele, led his patrol to victory in two out of three events tried by the patrols of troop No. 6 of Costa Mesa, winning both the wall scale and the O'Grady drill. Lenord Collins and his patrol took the snake skinning event. A district rally will be held at Costa Mesa January 27.

Warren Collins and Lee Hoenshell finished their tenderfoot tests preparatory to being admitted into the troop at its next regular meeting on January 21. Max Viele and Wesley Ewell passed their test for first class signaling, turned in their maps and hiking stories, and finished the first half of their first class aid. Kenneth Kesel received his tenderfoot badge.

Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Greschner and Patrol Leaders Alf Pearce and Lenord Collins were appointed as a committee to meet with other scout committees of the district to formulate plans for the various inter-troop activities of district No. 6.

Charles Kesel was a visitor for the evening. Scoutmaster Lloyd Willcut and Assistant Scoutmaster Douglas Ward were in charge.

W. C. T. U. MEMBERS REQUEST SUPPORT ON 18TH AMENDMENT; SPEAKER CITES DRINK EVILS

PLACENTIA, Jan. 17.—Placentia Women's Christian Temperance union passed a resolution, concurring with those passed by many other unions of the country, asking representatives at Washington to do all in their power not only to retain the 18th amendment, but to pass legislation that will allow adequate appropriation for law enforcement and a campaign of education, at the victory celebration last night at the Placentia Presbyterian church.

The resolution was passed following an address by Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, national chairman of medical temperance for the W. C. T. U., and another by Mrs. Margaret Utt, county legislative chairman. Mrs. Antoinette Nenno presented it.

The resolution reads:

"Whereas, the opponents of the 18th amendment are proposing to legalize beer and repeal or modify the 18th amendment, and,

"Whereas, the effect of beverage alcohol is the same whether it is sold legally or illegally, and

"Whereas, we have no reason to believe the violators of the 18th amendment would obey the restrictions which of necessity must be a part of such legislation,

"Therefore, Be It Resolved, that we ask our United States senators, our congressmen at large and our congressmen to vote against all legislation intended to nullify, weaken or repeal the 18th amendment and the Volstead act and to vote instead for adequate appropriations for law enforcement and a campaign of education in law observation.

"We call upon the public to obey willingly the letter and spirit of the law."

Mrs. Hess, in her address, said the future lies in the hands of youth in prohibition matters, and urged that children and young men and women be taught that alcoholic drink is recognized by physicians as a narcotic, not a stimulant; that the danger in the "moderate drinking" question is one of great moment, since such a very small proportion can drink at all and remain moderate drinkers; and to teach young people the danger to health, both to present and future generations; and the result of alcohol on social life.

She likewise sounded a warning to orange growers, for, she said, advertising of alcoholic drinks and the sale of such will eclipse the orange industry, which has thrived on the dry nation, and oranges as a drink will be supplanted by other beverages.

In refuting statements that the fight against alcohol drinks is sentimental, she said it is deeper than that, it is emotional, for the man with a glass of beer in him is not a safe driver of an automobile, and that it is such a driver that is the cause of most of the wrecks. During a few hours at Christmas time, there were more than 500 wrecks in Los Angeles, and more than 90 per cent of the drivers involved were found to have been drinking slightly, she said.

That wine sales will bring back prosperity, and will supply revenue was ridiculed by the speaker, who called attention to the fact that foreign nations already are prepared to flood the country with their stock.

Mrs. LeRoy Grimm presided. Mrs. Isaac Mayfield led the Scripture lesson. Dr. F. H. Brunemeier opened the session with prayer. Mrs. D. J. Brigham gave a group of readings.

FATHER SUCCUMBS

BREA, Jan. 17.—J. W. Ellenberger has received word of the death of his father at his home in Pennsylvania. In company with a son and his family, the aged man made a motor trip from Pensylvania to California early in the fall and at that time was a guest in the Ellenberger home here.

Seek Leases On Placentia Land For New Oil Well

PLACENTIA, Jan. 17. — Sixty property owners of Placentia met with F. B. Howard, lease agent, and A. N. Bellport, member of the Placentia Development company at the Chamber of Commerce hall to discuss drilling an oil well on the Wents property, in the lots north and east of the Chapman and Bradford avenues crossing. Owing to certain owners no tsigning, nothing definite has been done as to drilling a well. The lease signers are getting $5 a month per city lot, and the company agrees to begin drilling within six months of signing, provided all sign. All Saturday morning was spent interviewing individual owners in an effort to complete the leasing of two blocks.

2 Brea Oil Men Hospital Patients

BREA, Jan. 17.—Two Brea men have been taken to hospitals, both employes of the Union Oil company. Lester Todd is in the Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles, where he submitted to a major operation Monday and is reported to be recovering nicely. Perry Chansler is a patient at the Anaheim hospital, seriously ill, his condition baffling attending physicians.

Other Brea citizens reported seriously ill are Mrs. Myrtle Bachman, D. L. Richardson and Fred Boling. Mrs. Boling is conducting the grocery store in the absence of her husband.

COUNCIL PLANS CONFERENCE ON FIRE HYDRANTS

PLACENTIA, Jan. 17. — More definite understanding of what the Placentia packing houses demand in respect to fire protection is to be sought before Placentia city councilmen make a final decision as to placement of a six-inch pipe line and fire hydrants along Chowther avenue.

It was found at the city council meeting last night that the American States Water company, represented by N. M. Launer, of La Habra, anticipates putting the line just to Melrose avenue, along Crowther, while councilmen expect to have it extended to Evelyn street, with a hydrant placed there, for adequate protection on the west side of the Placentia Mutual packing house, and the Mexican settlement to the west of that.

The special committee, headed by Councilman A. C. Schalles, will meet with Harry O. Easton, manager of Placentia Mutual, and Jack Prizer, manager of the Placentia Orange Growers association, and with Launer at an early date to straighten out the affair and to plan to lay the pipe line that will supply the protection. Launer stated further that the Water company expected the city to pay the difference in the costs of establishing the fire hydrants.

On suggestion of Mayor Clarence E. Haiber, an investigation will be made to see if city licenses may be collected a year in advance.

It was announced that all newspapers delivered within the city limits are to be charged an annual license fee and Mrs. Nellie Cline, city clerk, was instructed to collect the fees.

POSTPONE MEETING

TALBERT, Jan. 17.—The monthly meeting of the Missionary society of the Talbert and Greenville churches, which was scheduled for Thursday of this week, has been postponed until Thursday of next week. Dismissal Of Judge Before Board Tonight

FULLERTON, Jan. 17. — A new appeal to keep Judge Halsey I. Spence in office will be made tonight at the city council meeting at the city hall, with Councilman T. K. Gowen present. Early in December the councilmen took action for the dismissal of the city judge, the action to become effective January 1. Owing to the petition placed in the hands of city councilmen later in December, the dismissal policy was abandoned until the return of Gowen from the east. It is anticipated a large crowd will attend the session tonight.

More than 1500 names were placed on the petition asking for retention of the judge.

Heil, daughter, Dorothy Heil, Mrs. Edna Day and son, Herbert Day, and Mrs. Ella Penhall, of Westminster.

CITY COUNCIL REFUSES PLEA TO CUT WAGES

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 17.—Reviewing old city liquor ordinances as far back as 1919, which gave the people of Newport Beach considerable liberty in the handling of intoxicating liquors within the city limits in those days, City Attorney Roland Thompson reread the ordinance that is in effect at present, as the opening business at last night's city council meeting, pointing out that the present ordinance, which is in effect here since the Wright act repeal, is equally as stringent as the Wright act and that under the present ordinance the city has ample protection on the question.

After much hectic debate especially on matters concerning wages to city employes, police protection in certain quarters, and kindred matters, the council sat tight on the time and wage scale and readjustments in the police force that have been settled on in the past few months, turning down a request from the people of Balboa island to return to the same police program that was in effect before the change, and objecting quite decidedly to any further cuts in salaries.

Rodney Pantages, of Hollywood, representing the Southern California Outboard association, appeared before the body with a request for the privilege to hold outboard motor boat races in the bay here some time in March. After some discussion as to the ordinances on such projects, a motion was made and carried, permitting the races, subject to the interpretation of the ordinances in effect now.

C. E. McFarland was granted the use of the Twenty-first street ocean pier for the landing of boats going to and from his fishing barges, with the understanding that he perform the duties of wharfinger on the pier also.

The city attorney, reporting on the present relations between the city and the closed banks here, stated that the First National bank has paid its dividends to the city up to date.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR OF ROTARY VISITS

ANAHEIM, Jan. 17.—Admitting the need for economy, but warning against false economy in education and social welfare, Charles Hayward of Berkeley, governor of the Second District of Rotary, addressed the local service club yesterday noon at the luncheon held in the Elk's clubhouse. This was an official visit and was the occasion for an examination of all reports of officers and committee chairmen in an hour's meeting preceding the luncheon. Dr. H. D. Newkirk presided over the luncheon.

False economy will half progress the speaker declared, as he urged Rotarians to assume their responsibilities in the world of today and to live up to the highest principles of the service club. He declared that service above self should always be the watchword of the members.

she was as becomingly and suitably dressed for theh oliday in the country as any of Barry's debutante friends might have been.

The girl's eyes were shining. It was the radiant glow of happiness, more than the blue gown, hte cosmetics, the painstaking minutes before the dressing table that made Mona Moran on that spring morning a real beauty.

Steve was coming for her. Steve was looking forward to the long drive into the country with Mona. But they were not thoughts of Steve Saccarelli that brought the flush of color to the girl's cheeks.

Mona went to the living room window and looked down on the street to watch for Steve's long gleaming motor car. It should be there any moment now. Steve had had time enough to travel the 10 blocks even in thew orst of Sunday morning traffic jams.

The hands of the clock across the room pointed to 10 minutes past 10.

"What can be keeping him?" Mona thought. "If he isn't here in a few minutes we'll be late."

She could not bear to lose even 10 minutes of the day at Twilands. Mona was eager to see the beautiful Townsend estate—the home Barry had known as a child.

"I'm going to have a whole day with him!" Mona's heart was singing. "One whole day! I'm going to be a guest in his home!"

Suddenly the blue eyes darkened. She was remembering that Steve Saccarelli had been her childhood playmate. Mona understood tSeve, knew that he cared for her and accepted this affection in a matter-of-fact way.

Barry Townsend, in spite of all his protestations, was from a different world. How could she know if Barry's feeling toward her was friendship or something deeper? How could she know if Barry was learning to care as she had learned?

"Perhaps," Mona thought with a quick intake of breath, "today will tell me!"

POSSESSION OF LIQUOR TO BE LAW VIOLATION

Santa Ana's new ordinance intended to govern the handling of liquor by bootleggers in the city, and which is designed to greatly strengthen the city ordinance regulating liquor on which authorities are relying since repeal of the Wright Act, was given final passage by the city council last night. It goes into effect within 30 days.

The new ordinance merely changes two sections of the old city ordinance, No. 662 which prohibits the manufacture, sale, storage or transportation of liquor inside the city limits of Santa Ana.

Written as a direct blow to bootleggers who are using their homes as storage plants and who feel safe on that account, the new sections make it unlawful for persons to possess intoxicating liquor in any place in Santa Ana. The old ordinance merely made it unlawful to possess liquor in any public or semi-public place.

The other section makes it unlawful for any persons to have any liquor on his person at any place in Santa Ana while the old-ordinance merely referred to public and semi-public places.

ANNOUNCE NEW MANAGER FOR HAWKINS STORE

Reorganization of the Santa Ana I. H. Hawkins company store was in progress today, following out plans made along this line, it was announced today by store officials.

The first step in working out these plans was taken by Hawkins when he announced that C. S. McKinney, who he termed one of his ablest lieutenants, would take over the permanent management of the Santa Ana store.

McKinney is not new to the Hawkins company, having managed various company stores for the past 12 years. Previously, he was in the wholesale dry goods business. "This invaluable experience ably fits him in merchandising the local store in such a way as to give its many friends and patrons the ultimate in service and quality," the announcement said.

Changing merchandising conditions compels the second step in pursuance of reorganization plans, which is a huge liquidation sale which begins tomorrow, it was announced.

The present stocks of staple dry goods, men's, children's and women's wear must be cleared, store officials said. In many cases the reductions are below today's replacement prices and in other instances actually below cost, it was said.

McKinney wishes to begin with a clean slate and for this reason Hawkins has authorized the offering of what he believes to be the most sensational values in the history of retailing. McKinney feels this is the most suitable way to win new friends for the store and to introduce himself to people of Santa Ana and vicinity.

Travel Theme Selected For Informal Party In New Offices

Celebrating the opening of their new suite of offices on the fifth floor of First National bank building, Santa Ana staff members of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company were hosts Saturday night at a gay party characterized by a travel theme of which "On to Chicago" was the chief motif. Guests were from Los Angeles and Long Beach and represented the Pacific coast executives of the company and their office staffs.

Although prepared for surprise features, arriving guests nevertheless were amazed to discover that they were apparently in a railroad station, for the reception room had been given the appearance of a typical depot. "Travelers" were provided with plenty of "depression money" and were required to buy transportation at the ticket office. Bridge tally cards were thus cleverly disguised, and players found that they proceeded from city to city rather than from table to table, with Chicago as the ultimate goal.

In choosing this general theme, the hosts emphasized the importance of the general convention to be held in Chicago next summer which each individual hopes to attend by making a certain quota during the intervening months. Those who achieved the coveted honor by means of bridge scores Saturday night, were Mrs. Charles Wright and J. B. Weaver of Long Beach, who were suitably rewarded for high scores, and Mrs. Ruth Smails and Charles Wright, consoled. Prizes were articles to be used on the trip.

Punch was served all evening, and ices and cake were served at the refreshment hour on the "dining car." Enlivening the interval was an impromptu program with saxophone and banjo numbers by Paul S. New Home is Setting Of Two Enjoyable Events

Since becoming established in their new home, 2009 Victoria Drive, Mr and Mrs. Hugh Gerrard and family have been hosts at two occasions of special enjoyment, the most recent being in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan. Preceding their marriage of recent date, Mrs. Morgan was Miss Grace Peck, a member of the Sunday school class of which Mrs. Gerrard is teacher at Orange avenue Christian church.

Bridal Features

Guests spent part of the evening in the attic, writing a honeymoon story by clipping words from magazine advertisements. At the close of the affair they were invited to the dining room, where refreshments were served. Forming a centerpiece for a large table was the ship of matrimony, bearing bride and bridegroom figures which had been fashioned by Miss Helen Switzler.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were showered with gifts of miscellaneous nature.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrard included the Misses Juanita Patton, Margie Hoff, Frances Miller, Phyllis Wetzell, Vivian Switzler, Phyllis Gerrard, Joanna Day, Louise Bach, Dorothy Fisher, Helen Switzler, Hazel Stukey, Irma Borland, Myrtis Gerrard and Messrs Myron Gerrard, Gareth Cottrell, Charles Holmes, Deane Hyatt, George Ellers, Warren Bramley, Leonard Eyerly, Lawrence Peck, Ollie Beale, Howard Sutherland, Leonard Thompson, George Kester, Minor Thompson, Harmon Howard, Jack Lackland, E. Martin, and the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are making their home at 105 Hickory street.

Housewarming

. On another occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrard were hosts at a housewarming, attended by relatives and a group of close friends. After an informal musical program given by the young people present, a tea menu was served.

Visiting Teams Attend Damascus Shrine Meeting

When Damascus White Shrine members met Friday evening in Masonic temple, they greeted over 250 visitors, for the evening had been set aside by Damascus patrol team as the time for entertaining other Southern California teams. The large lodge room of the temple was setting for exhibition drills put on by the various guest groups.

Preceding the program was a business session with Mrs. Lillian Vinson, worthy high priestess, and James Tarpley, watchman of shepherds, presiding. Among visitors escorted east were Mrs. Victoria L. Crouse, junior past supreme worthy high priestess and a group of worthy high priestesses and watchmen of shepherds, including Esther Fellers of Long Beach; Ysa Cramore, Whittier; Ludene Whitney, Hollywood; Henrietta Hardage, Fullerton; Margaret Owens, Huntington Park; Caryle Snyder, Fullerton; Albert J. Datz, Los Angeles; Norris Wright, Huntington Park, and Sidney Elkenbary, Redondo Beach.

At the close of Shrine, Mrs. Vinson introduced Mrs. R. A. Evans, captain of Damascus patrol team, who took charge of the program. The first team to take part was Messiah Shrine team of Redondo Beach, followed by drills given by Emmanuel Shrine of Huntington Park and Mametho Shrine of Los Angeles. Participants in each of these teams wore handsome satin costumes. Hollywood team lent variety to the program, for its members used kitchen utensils for musical instruments, presenting a humorous concert. Although Fullerton team was present, the captain was ill, so the group did not take part in the exhibition.

At a late hour, all adjourned to the banquet room, where refreshments were served. Damascus team had spent several weeks making the clever little felt card cases which were presented to members of visiting teams at this time.

The Committee in charge included Mrs. W. G. Lewis, chairman, assisted by the team including Mesdames R. A. Evans, Hugh Whisennan, W. W. Hyde, George Hubbard, Hugh Henry, Elizabeth Price, A. E. Wallace, W. O. Patterson, C. E. Moore, Walter Berry, Fred Pope, Charles Whittet and William Strassberger. Mrs. Luzina Dawson, who is not a member of the team, assisted the group.

Men of the Shrine serving coffee were W. G. Lewis, W. W. Hyde, Hugh Henry, P. N. Chapin, A. E. Muller, W. O. Patterson and Hugh Whisennan.

Plans were made for the meeting on January 27, when the supreme worthy high priestess, Nell B. Irwin, will make her official visit. This meeting will be preceded by a 6:30 o'clock dinner. Mrs. W. G. Lewis will be chairman.

W. B. A.

W. B. A. members met the past week in the home of Mrs. E. R. Curtis, 222 South Main street. Following a covered-dish luncheon at noon there was a business session in charge of Mrs. Curtis.

Those present were Mesdames Cora Wood, Eva Bemus, Laura Moye, Margaret Culver, Margaret Erickson, Etta Ericks, Docia Jasper, Ivy Olson, Dora Spangler, Florence Summerville, Beatrice Hossler, Ida Rudolph and Mrs. Curtis.

Mrs. Rudolph and Mrs. Olson are to be hostesses at the next meeting in two weeks in the Curtis home.

Homesteaders Lodge

Changing their meeting place from the Knights of Columbus hall to the Moose hall, members of the Homesteaders Life association met the past week for an interesting session. Members found that a complete new ritual had been received by the officers, who now will have a complete change of work.

Members of the drill team, appropriately costumed, took part in the evening's schedule, cooperating with the officers in their new work. The new location for meetings had been chosen by the trustees, including James Ryan, Thurlow Lord and George Randle.

Announcement was made that officers of the homestead will meet Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Knox to plan a program for the next six months. It was decided to invite one of the Los Angeles teams to visit the organizatio nin the near future, when class initiation is to be held.

After refreshments had been served, dancing was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening. Adult lodge will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

MR. VILLARD OF "THE NATION" STEPS DOWN

"The Nation" has been a virile and a progressive weekly ever since it was founded in 1865. When Gustav Pollack, one of its earlier contributors, issued his 50th anniversary volume of excerpts from its pages, there was one strain that ran through its every issue. It was always with the "under dog;" it was always advocating the then unpopular cause; it was always looked upon with disfavor by those who had selfish ends to serve, or who believed things as they are to be sacred and therefore permanent.

That spirit has been present during the last fourteen years since it was taken over by Oswald Garrison Villard. During Mr. Villard's editorial leadership, the paper has never bowed the knee to Baal. It has never held secretly the faith of Jehovah while the knee bent before the altar of Rimmon. It always hit hard. It always called a spade a spade. It was pacifistic in peace. It did not declare a moratorium of its convictions during the hate and the hysteria of war. One may read in the files of the last fourteen and a half years what was wrong with the country and the world in language that was never ambiguous. Weasel words had no place in its vocabulary. "Massachusetts Murderer," was the title on the cover page when that state sent to the chair a shoemaker and a fishpeddler to appease the hysteria which followed the World War.

We have no hesitation in saying that Mr. Villard during all this time has been a most useful citizen. We have not always shared his opinions or convictions; but we have had the greatest admiration for his passion for justice and his courage. Himself a member of a privileged class, he has always fought the battles of the unprivileged, and that at great cost of personal comfort as well as personal favor. No man of the post-war period has been so vigilant in protecting the rights of the poor and the victims of tyranny. Rejoicing in the revolution of Russia, he did not hesitate to declare to the world the brutality of the Russian dictatorship. He has always been a man who believed in the might of right, and in the inherent weakness, as well as wickedness, of the use of force.

We are pleased to learn that while Mr. Villard steps down, he does not step out. Relinquishing the burdens of editorial responsibility, on the pages of the paper, over the radio, and on the public platform he is to continue the great work to which he has dedicated his life. The country and the world is the richer to have such a man. He has been a voice, not an echo. He has dared to stand alone when the crowd went mad. We regret that his weekly radio voice only reaches the region of New York. It ought to be heard over the whole country. We wish one of the broadcasting corporations would brave the disfavor of the few and put him on as a regular feature weekly for the whole country.

COMMISSIONER MULROONEY OF NEW YORK OPINES

The police commissioner of New York, Mr. Mulrooney, a man of many excellent qualities and capacities as a public official holding a post of great responsibility, recently stated that in the coming revision of the national policy on the liquor traffic, the country ought to go the whole way. Beer is not enough, he says. Everything indicates that the people of this country are drinkers of hard liquors, and any limits put upon them will only continue the abuses from which American society is suffering today as a result of the prohibition policy.

We have had occasion to commend Commissioner Mulrooney on several occasions for his human interests and for his concern for the boys of New York. We do not for a moment question his honesty; but we do question his judgment on this matter. The liquor traffic has always been an outlaw, and will continue to be an outlaw no matter what policy is adopted to regulate it. It has always been a social menace, and we cannot see how a greater freedom will make it less so.

Undoubtedly, we are in for a change. But that change should not be a return to conditions from which the country endeavored to escape when it took the drastic action of putting prohibition in the national Constitution. The liquor business will be controlled when public sentiment is against it. For obvious reasons, public sentiment is not in favor of present policies. But the problem is here. It will not be solved by surrender or flight; of that we are certain. Mr. Mulrooney may be right in saying that we are a nation of hard liquor drinkers, although that even will have to be greatly qualified. But our opinion is that as the evils of this traffic oppress those people most who need deliverance from its ravage, a campaign of education needs to be started once more to point out the evils of it. Not by going the whole way and confessing our inability to meet this problem, but by setting up the ideal of a sober nation, educating people up to it, and then passing laws to reinforce the demands of public sentiment. That is the program for the country.

A FAILURE APPLIES FOR JOB

A woman in Indianapolis, Ind., has placed an application for the matrimony chair at Butler University. That university recently added a matrimonial course to its curriculum. This woman claims that she is well qualified because she has been married seven times. She is now on her seventh honeymoon. "There's a lot about this marriage business that these smart college fellers don't know about," she said, "I am on my seventh honeymoon and I think I know some of the important things."

It probably doesn't occur to her that judging the fitness for the position from the standpoint of experience alone the man or woman who has remained married to one individual for a long period of time is better qualified than one who has not been able to meet the problems of successive marriages. It would appear from the record of seven marriages that this woman, while she may have experience of a sort, has not the sort of experience that is desirable for instruction in how to be contented though married.

Furthermore no less an authority than Immanuel Kant has said that in order to know human nature it is not necessary to know many people. If one knows one man thoroughly one knows a considerable about human nature. The philosopher would be right in this contention most of the time.

THE MILITANT ATHEIST ENCOURAGES COWARDICE

An advertisement for a new atheistic paper announces that it will not bother about politeness. "It will be rough. It will hit hard. It won't pull its punches." Then it goes on to say that the wrappers in which it is sent to the subscribers will not embarrass them by having the name of the paper printed on it.

Why this concession to cowardice by a paper that is going to hit hard, will be rough, and won't pull its punches? Religion of a true type has nothing to fear from attack. If any one wants to attack it, there is no law to prevent it. There was a time when religion laid itself open to attacks. It was when it compelled people to conform on pain of punishment, and when religion was associated with impossible beliefs. Those were the days when every village had its militant atheist. He has gone with the cracker barrel upon which he sat, and the old stove around which he gathered his cronies. It is pretty late in the day to try to revive this sort of thing.

Vladimir De Pachmann

Santa Barbara News

The death of Vladimir de Pachmann, Russian pianist, famed throughout the world for his interpretation of Chopin, brings to a close one of the most extraordinary of careers. De Pachmann, passing at the age of 85, had actually seen several careers achieve brilliance and pass into the shadows. After gaining considerable renown in Europe as a conecrt artist, he suddenly abandoned public appearances and went into retirement for a period of more than eight years, during which he devoted a large part of his time to the study and assimilation of the music of the great Chopin.

When he came out of seclusion audiences found him an eccentric—or, at least, they considered him as in that category. Among many peculiar habits he had acquired was that of breaking off in the middle of a Chopin composition to present a sometimes scholarly—and sometimes ribald—dissertation upon the meaning the composer intended when creating the particular composition being performed. Needless to say, this caused much adverse criticism, coincident with which another group praised him highly for "originality" and "individuality." That he achieved both of these things there is no doubt. That he was also a fine technician is admitted even by those who found his "speech-making" annoying.

De Pachmann declared that only by speaking to the audience was he assured that he "was conveying the real purpose and meaning of Chopin." He believed himself to be the greatest pianist of the era, and often announced this fact with complete sangfroid. Yet he possessed an engaging sense of humor that always made attendance at his concerts interesting. It has been said by some who knew De Pachmann well that he was in reality amusing himself at the expense of his audiences when he made his grandiloquent talks, and that secretly he despised their supine acceptance of his eccentricities merely because of his supposed eminence. Others have declared him deeply sincere.

About Shanhaikwan

Oakland Tribune

Thousands who have passed over the name "Shanhaikwan" carelessly know it now as the scene of battle, a key place that has fallen.

Those who care to learn more are directed to the prompt and zealous officials of the National Geographic Society who make it a point to follow the world news with their words in explanation and setting. A bulletin from that source says that the place is situated on a narrow coastal plain where the only water level trade route between China and Manchuria pierces the Great Wall of China, and has for centuries been a place of strategic importance far out of proportion to its 80,000 population and few native industries.

At Shanhaikwan the Great Wall of China drops down from the mountainous borderland between China proper and Manchuria and, after a short run across the coastal plain tumbles into the sea, or, rather, the Gulf of Liaotung. Here is the best preserved section of the Great Wall, and its celebrated eastern gate, called "Under Heaven Number One Gate," or "The First Gate of the World."

Once Shanhaikwan and its part of the Great Wall formed part of the first line of Chinese defense against the natives of Manchuria, the Manchus. For more than thirty years the Manchus were kept at bay in this region. Finally, on May 26, 1644, aided by a furious sand storm, the forces of the Manchu leader Wu San Kuei managed to overcome a vastly superior Chinese army and scaled the Great Wall, pouring into China to become masters of that country until the Republic was established in 1912. Shanhaikwan was occupied by Allied troops during the Boxer Rebellion in 1900. Here the Allied forces landed.

Tsk! Tsk! How Times Have Changed

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TOO MANY COOKS

I know exactly what to do
About that foreign debt;
I see no need for me or you
To grouse or fume or fret.
I've figured everything all out;
If I could have my say
These troubled times, past any doubt,
Would swiftly pass away.
I know the sure way to get back
Those European loans;
But so does Green, and so does Black,
And Robinson, and Jones.

I know the needful laws to pass
When next the Congress meets
To keep the waving prairie grass
From growing in the streets,
And how much money should be spent
And just how far ahead
To keep our good old government
From going in the red,
So that no worries may bow down
Our honest kin and kith;
But so does Green, and so does Brown,
And Robinson, and Smith.

I know what taxes should be laid
On what is bought and sold,
And how much money should be made
Of silver or of gold,
And how to regulate finance
So through the coming years
The people all will have a chance
To carve out their careers;
And doubtless, reader, so do you,
But still we're up a tree;
We know precisely what to do,
Yet none of us agree.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

What this country needs is a new bedtime story. We're tired of hearing about "The Great Big Bear and The Teeny-Weeny Bull."

An authority estimates that Tin Pan Alley turns out 25,000 different popular songs a year. Different? Popular? Songs?

And the cost of government in this country is not merely too high; it's fantastically exorbitant when you consider the quality of the product.

Financial Expert: A man who can tell you, during a bull market, that stocks will probably go up tomorrow and, during a bear market, that they will probably go down tomorrow.

ANOTHER WAY TO PRESERVE YOUR FAITH IN MAN IS TO SAY NO WHEN A STRANGER OFFERS YOU A GOOD INVESTMENT.

It all depends on the point of view. The average man's idea of Heaven—a place with no gangsters, no graft, no taxes and no Volstead—would be Hades to a Paragrapher writer.

The inevitable conclusion, after reading a tabloid: It's a funny world full of funny people who do funny things at funny times in funny places for funny reasons.

"An Eskimo woman is old at forty," says an explorer. You'd be too, if you had to visit a beauty parlor thrice weekly to have your face defrosted.

AMERICANISM: Rushing to buy stocks when they're sky high; refusing to touch them when they're dirt cheap.

The railroads are letting us ride for less than half fare. No, Ethel, it doesn't offend us one bit to be treated like children.

Your average college freshman is quite confident that he could run the government better than those who are doing it. And the sad part is, he probably could.

Inventors for the most part, have wasted their time on trifles. Show us a machine to do man's worrying and a mill to grind out happiness.

Don't jump to the wrong conclusion. When the paper says that Mrs. So-and-So went "tiny garment shopping" it probably means that she bought a bathing suit.

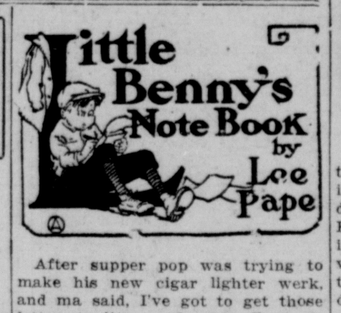

A peep into the future. "Watch that alcoholic content, Tony," says the bootlegger. "If we let that beer fall below four per cent it's legal and they can tax it."

If Mr. Hoover takes that job of advising Japan, doubtless his first suggestion will be not to get Hi Johnson stirred up.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "NONE OF THIS FRENCH NONSENSE FOR ME," SAID THE AMERICAN RESTAURANT OWNER. "PATE-DE-FOIS-GRAS ON MY MENU IS JUST PLAIN 'GOOSE LIVER PASTRY.'"

Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape

After supper pop was trying to make his new cigar lighter werk, and ma said, I've got to get those letters written and sent off, that's the long and short of it in a nutshell. They been piling up for 2 weeks until now there's at least 6 or 7 of them in round numbers. answers to this and responses to that and replies to the other. I been telling myself every evening that I awt to get those letters off, she said.

Haven't you beleeved yourself? pop said, and ma said, It's all a question of simple will power. What I awt to do is decide once and for all to wawk strate to my desk and write each one of those letters without letting another day grow under my feet, and then it would be done and over without any more fuss and feathers and I wouldn't have it on my mind any more except as a dim feeling of relief. A little will power, that's all the occasion demands, she said.

Haven't you got it? pop said, and ma said, Yes I have and I'm going to use it, I'm using it at this very moment. I'm going to get rite up and sit rite down to the job until the last letter is a thing of the passed. Well, thank goodness I've finely decided what a relief and sattisfaction, it's wonderful, she said.

But the letters aren't done yet, pop said, and ma said, I know it, but now that I've fully made up my mind it wont hert them to wait patiently just one more day, because they're as good as done now, because it's just a question of hours. I think I'll celebrate my decision by going to see Lovey Darling's new picture. Tonite's the last nite, so I won't take no for an anser, Willyum, she said.

Meening she expected pop to take her. Wich he did shaking his head to himself and saying, Will power thy name is baloney.

Thoughts On Modern Life

THE TECHNOCRAT AS GADFLY

The tempest stirred by the Technocrats still lashes about the heads of the frightened guardians of our laissez faire capitalism.

I have gone eye-weary and ear-weary from reading and hearing uncritical boostings and uncritical breathings of this new gospel of government by a soviet of technicians, if I may steal a phrase from Thorstein Veblen, the philosophical sire of Technocracy.

I have not rushed to embrace this new evangel of the engineers.

I prefer to wait until more data reaches my desk.

A little later I shall try to give to the readers of these articles a guiding thread through the maze of exaggerated assertions by the proponents of Technocracy and excited denials by its antagonists.

For the moment I do no more than record the fact that I am not greatly impressed when some economist or business man exposes inaccuracy or inflation in the assertions of Howard Scott or any of his technocratic colleagues.

Even if the Technocrat fails to prove himself a successful governor, he is proving himself a stimulating gadfly.

Whether his statistics be wholly accurate or mixed with the alloys of special pleading and wishful thinking, the Technocrat is dramatizing for millions of Americans and thrusting upon the attention of thousands of business, industrial, and financial leaders what I have been insisting, for at least six years in these articles, is the central problem of this century, namely, the readjustment of our economic policy in terms of our technical processes.

By investing this problem with a contagious quality that is giving it an epidemic sweep, the Technocrat is rendering an incalculable service to contemporary civilization.

In what I shall say in the immediate future about Technocracy I shall not, therefore, poke fun at Mr. Scott's five-foot words, although he would bear translation into English, or worry about this or that inaccuracy in his statistics, although technocratic data must run the gauntlet of ruthless verification before the theory is considered seriously.

I shall, on the contrary, stick to careful consideration of the problem the Technocrat raises.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

GOING TO BED

Going to bed is always a bit trying for children who have left infancy a few weeks back. The day is going on without them. People are going to keep on doing interesting things and they will miss a lot. They aren't tired, they think. It is only the mean disposition of the big adult that makes them go to bed. When they are big they won't go to bed. See if they do. Anyway they'll put up a good fight.

That sets the wrong mood for going to bed. To go to bed they need to feel that way. A child isn't going to feel like bedtime simply because the clock strikes and somebody says, "Come along now." That feeling has to be coaxed into being. The bedtime mood has to be created.

It is best to begin ahead of time. Let the day draw to a close gradually. Suspend the family activity just a little. Don't plan a gay evening in the hearing of the child who is going to bed. Don't plan a gay tomorrow lest you start him living in that gay day that minute. Say nothing and do nothing that will make the child come wide awake. If you picture action in words his body is set in action although he remains in his chair. If you set the household in action of course he goes along too and you will have to wrench him away.

Give him his supper. Let the period that follows be quieter than not. Listening to a good story, not too exciting, listening to music, to the quiet conversation of the family, sets a good bedtime mood. Have the bed ready, the bath waiting, go through the routine cheerfully but without any fuss. The less excitement the less protest you will encounter.

I have seen people make a child fight against going to bed by their anxiety to have the child go prepared for sleep. "Come along Jane. It's time for you to get ready for bed. I'll fix your bed now. Come along now, Jane. Don't begin playing with that. You have to go to bed right away. I'm getting the water ready. Come, come. Never mind what father is doing. Do you hear me? I'm waiting for you. Leave that doll downstaors. Come along now. We're all ready. The chickens are going to sleep too. And Rover. And Caroline too. Yes, her mother is putting her to bed. No, she isn't getting out again. Now you listen to me, Jane. You've got to hurry up. Aunt Mary is coming and I have to get ready for her. NO. She won't come up to see you. You'll be asleep. Yes you will. Anyway she isn't going to stay. Will you please hurry, Jane? I'm going right down stairs. How do you expect to grow if you don't get to bed on time?"

That will stimulate a child into staying awake for hours. Set the mood for sleep. Keep all thought of activity out of it. The child will furnish enough to keep you busy without your suggesting a thing. Keep your voice quiet. Keep your movements gentle. There is no hurry. Sleep flies away in the face of hurry. Sleep is a leisurely goddess who comes the slower for the wooing.

A regular hour for bedtime, a regular ritual, the right mood. This means some thought and foresight but the end brings you and the child a calm content.
